RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRIES, BENGAL, FOR THE YEAR 1925.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND INDUSTRIES.

Industries.

DARJEELING, THE 18TH JUNE 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 412T.-A.I.

READ—

Annual Administration Report of the Department of Industries, Bengal, for the year 1925.

Dr. D. B. Meek held the office of the Director of Industries, Bengal, up to the 9th April and again from the 25th October to the end of the year. Mr. A. T. Weston acted as Director of Industries during the intervening period and Mr. E. Hoogewerf, Principal, Government Weaving Institute, Serampore, officiated as Deputy Director of Industries in place of Mr. Weston up to the 31st August 1925.

The post of Inspector of Technical and Industrial Institutions which had been vacant since 1922 was filled during the year under report by the appointment of Mr. A. N. Sen, B.Sc. (Glasgow), Assistant Principal, Ashanulla School of Engineering, Dacca, with effect from the 10th August 1925.

Mr. S. C. Mitter, B.Sc. (London), was appointed on the 9th October 1925 to the post of Industrial Engineer vacated by Mr. C. W. Budd in 1923.

With these two appointments the department has now its full complement of superior technical staff, and the Governor in Council trusts that its activities in the various directions of research, technical advice and supervision of technical education will now be carried on more vigorously and efficiently than has hitherto been possible with a depleted staff. But as observed by the Director the beneficent activities of the department by way of technical advice, technical assistance and provision of marketing facilities cannot extend much beyond Calcutta owing to the abolition, as a measure of retrenchment, of the posts of Superintendents of Industries. It is all the more unfortunate that this useful subordinate agency had to be abolished at a time when they had just completed their enquiries into the condition of the various cottage industries of the Province, the results of which are embodied in a pamphlet entitled "Report on the survey of cottage industries in Bengal". These enquiries indicate in which direction the possibilities of development of cottage industries lie, and the important part such an agency would have played in the industrial development of the Province in this direction cannot be overstated. The question of reviving these posts so that each of these officers may be placed in charge of a homogenous industrial circle is now engaging the attention of Government. In the meantime steps have been taken to ensure that the information collected by Superintendents is kept up-to-date as far as practicable with the help of the district executive staff.

Research and Experiments.—The importance of research work as an essential preliminary to all scientific and indeed to all industrial development can hardly be exaggerated. But as stated in the previous reports and Government resolutions thereon, the research work of the department has hitherto been conducted in the laboratory attached to the Calcutta Research Tannery. It is gratifying to note that a fully equipped industrial research laboratory has now been erected and that it will be ready for opening in the course of a few weeks. The Governor in Council hopes that with this laboratory the Industrial Chemist, who has already carried out valuable research work, and the newly appointed Engineer, who within the short time of his appointment has undertaken many useful branches of research and experiment, will find greater facilities for their work.

After very careful researches and experimentation by the Industrial Chemist formulæ for several very good compositions for match heads have been worked out, while experiments on damp-proofing of matches are being conducted. At the instance of the Bande Mataram Match Factory experiments were undertaken under the control of the Chemist in the bleaching of Gengwa wood as a result of which the most economic bleaching powder and the process of treatment were evolved.

The Industrial Engineer has resumed experiments for devising improved appliances for the benefit of workers in the bell-metal industry. He has succeeded in devising an improved hackling machine for the development of sunn hemp rope making on cottage industry lines. Two other useful machines which promise success have also been improved by the Industrial Engineer, viz., one for spinning jute yarn as a cottage industry and the other for bending and marking of umbrellas. The long-standing question of cutting conch-shells more rapidly and under better conditions than by the primitive method now in use has approached nearer solution by the development of a simple and satisfactory machine devised by the Industrial Engineer.

In the Calcutta Research Tannery very useful investigations were conducted not only into the methods of producing the more important varieties of commercial leather from the available raw materials under the local climatic conditions, but also into some of the chemical problems in connection with the tanning processes. The cow hides of different parts of the province were being surveyed along with the investigations on the manufacture of box sides.

Textile researches of a very useful character were made at the Serampore Weaving Institute. Experiments were made with success in the weaving of coarse jute and coir fabrics and in the spinning of jute, coir, sunnhemp, waste silk and wool as well as in the extraction of cocoanut fibres. Government note with interest that experiments regarding the possibilities of using the fibres of water-hyacinth stalks by spinning and weaving them into strings and matting were conducted at the institute, and consider that the investigation should continue with a view to finding out all further industrial possibilities of this noxious weed.

Demonstration and Propaganda.—Research and experiments to be of any practical value must be followed by demonstration. Here again the department is handicapped by the abolition of the posts of Superintendents of Industries. But the demonstration staff attached to the Calcutta Research Tannery and the Serampore Weaving Institute—particularly the latter—have carried out many useful demonstrations in various parts of the Presidency.

Research Tannery.—The Calcutta Research Tannery has maintained its good record of useful work. It is gratifying to note that two of the apprentices of the tannery who have finished their training have started the business of leather case making on their own account and one of them now employs as many as 18 workmen. The Governor in Council has now finally decided that the Calcutta Research Tannery should be retained as a permanent institution under the designation of Bengal Tanning Institute thus rejecting the recommendation of the Retrenchment Committee that the trade should pay for the tannery after the expiry of three years from the 1st May 1922.

Serampore Weaving Institute.—This is another institution of whose activities the Industries Department can well be proud. There is an insistent demand in the country for weaving instruction, and the Central Institute at Serampore with the district and peripatetic schools as well as the demonstration parties attached thereto are going a great way in meeting this demand. But the Governor in Council is of opinion that much more yet remains to be done not only by way of increasing the number of district and peripatetic schools, but also by increasing the number of demonstration parties. Sanction was accorded during the year to the proposal for the establishment of a district weaving school at Suri experimentally for one year with the co-operation of the District Board. One demonstration party has also been added to the staff of the institute. Administrative approval was accorded to the establishment of 12 additional peripatetic schools during the year under report and the establishment of two more has been administratively approved since the close of the year. The starting of these peripatetic schools now awaits the provision of funds.

Assistance to Industries.—At the present stage of industrial development of the country, local industry must necessarily depend on technical assistance and advice, and the Governor in Council notices with pleasure that the Industries Department promptly responded to the call of industrialists seeking such help from the various parts of the province as detailed in paragraphs 71-89 and 97-104 of the report. The department also did all that is practicable to secure special concessions on behalf of such of the industries as applied for them. It has also been alive to the fact that one of the essential factors for industrial development in this country is the organisation of markets for the finished products, and all that is practicable hasbeen done to secure facilities in marketing for those who have applied for the same.

Technical Education.—Considerable headway has been made during the year under review in the direction of technical education not only by providing for the establishment of new technical institutions and by increasing the allotment for grants-in-aid, but also by making provision for the award of two technical scholarships. The long-standing scheme formulated during the first ministry for the establishment of a Silk-weaving and Dyeing Institute at Berhampore was sanctioned during the year. Want of hired accommodation, however, stood in the way of giving effect to this useful scheme within the year. Arrangement has since been made for housing the institute in one of the vacant buildings of the Berhampore Lunatic Asylum. The Governor in Council is anxious that this school which opens up great prospect for the revival of the silk industry in this Presidency should be started as early as possible.

Besides the weaving school at Suri steps have also been taken for the opening of a survey class in the Burdwan Technical School in co-operation with the District Board.

A Principal for the Calcutta Technical School was recruited during the year to make preliminary arrangements so that the school might be opened with effect from the beginning of 1926. Owing to some technical legal difficulties, it has not yet been found possible to make over the land and buildings formally to the governing body as contemplated in the scheme.

During the year under review the recommendation of the Bengal Retrenchment Committee to deprovincialise the existing technical schools at Rangpur, Bogra, Barisal and Pabna was negatived and it was decided to retain them as models for non-Government technical institutions in the Province. The question of improving the condition of these schools is now under consideration. While accepting the principle underlying the recommendation of the Committee that technical education should generally be stimulated by the system of grants-in-aid, Government recognise the necessity for the establishment of more technical schools in the province to suit local conditions with the co-operation of the local bodies where it is available.

Of the two State technical scholars deputed for the study of glass manufactures and refractories, one joined the Sheffield University and the other the Pittsburgh University. Extension of the scholarship awarded to Mr. Ali Karim for the study of manufacture and refining of vegetable and fish oils was also sanctioned for a further period of one year.

State aid to Industries Bill.—The Governor in Council has now finally decided on the necessity of legislation for state aid to Industries. Steps are being taken to draft the Bill so that it may be presented to the Legislative Council as early as possible. Many other provinces in India have already enacted local legislation on the subject. The proposed legislation when passed by the Council will remove some of the more serious difficulties which now stand in the way of industrial development of the Presidency—specially on the lines of cottage and small industries.

The Governor in Council has much pleasure in recording his appreciation of the efficient manner in which the department was administered by Dr. D. B. Meek, and Messrs. Weston and Hoogewerf and of the useful work done by Dr. Rasik Lal Dutt, Industrial Chemist, and Mr. B. M. Das, Superintendent, Calcutta Research Tannery, in their respective lines. His Excellency also avails himself of this opportunity of conveying his thanks to the members of the Advisory Board of Industries and other Boards and Committees associated with the department for the assistance rendered by them in the administration of the department.

By order of the Governor in Council,

G. P. HOGG,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

Penal Servitude.

Effect of sentence of penal servitude.

58. Where a sentence of penal servitude is passed by a court-martial, the military convict shall, as soon as practicable, be committed to a penal servitude prison to undergo his sentence according to law :

Provided that where the sentence was passed for an offence committed on active service, the competent military authority may order that any part of the sentence, not exceeding two years, shall be served in a military prison in accordance with rules made for the purpose under this Act, and in such case the provisions of this Act with respect to penal servitude (except those relating to the treatment of a military convict on arrival at a penal servitude prison), shall, with respect to the part of the sentence to be so served, have effect as though for references to a penal servitude prison there were substituted references to a military prison.

Place in which sentence to be served.

59. The penal servitude prison to which a military convict is committed shall be a penal servitude prison in the United Kingdom, unless the convict—

(a) was sentenced in India or a colony, and belongs to a class of persons with respect to whom the Secretary of State by declaration laid before both Houses of Parliament has declared that by reasons of climate, place of birth, place of enlistment or otherwise, transfer to the United Kingdom would not be beneficial ; or

(b) was enlisted in a colony, and belongs to a class of persons so enlisted with respect to whom the Secretary of State has arranged with the Governor of that colony that they may, if sentenced to penal servitude, be transferred to or kept in the colony and there undergo sentence, in either of which cases he may undergo his sentence in India or the colony, as the case may require.

Interim custody of military convict before arrival at penal servitude prison.

60. (1) Until transferred to a penal servitude prison a military convict—

(a) if in the United Kingdom or a foreign country, shall be kept in military custody ;

(2) The competent military authority may give directions for delivery into military custody of any military prisoner or soldier undergoing detention, and the removal of such prisoner or soldier, whether with his corps or separately, to any place beyond the seas where the corps or any part thereof to which for the time being he belongs is serving or under orders to serve.

(b) a military prisoner or soldier undergoing detention in India or a colony shall not, for longer than is absolutely necessary, be detained in any civil prison other than a prison in respect of which arrangements have been made by the Secretary of State under this Act with the Governor General of India or the Governor of the colony.

(3) Whereas it is expedient that a clear difference should be made between the treatment of prisoners convicted of breaches of discipline and the treatment of prisoners convicted of offences of an immoral, dishonest, shameful, or criminal character, or sentenced to be discharged from the service with ignominy, a Secretary of State shall from time to time make rules for the classification and treatment of such prisoners.

The following extracts from the report of the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, on the second period of the Calcutta riots from the 22nd April to 9th May 1926 are published for information.

A. N. MOBERLY,
Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

CALCUTTA,
The 6th July 1926.

REPORT ON THE CALCUTTA RIOTS OF APRIL 1926.

Second Phase—22nd April to 9th May 1926.

Intervening period.—It was not to be expected that the communal frenzy, which had assumed such unprecedented proportions during the rioting which occurred between the 2nd and 14th April, would speedily die down and the renewal of hostilities over a very insignificant incident on the 22nd April did not, therefore, come wholly as a surprise. During the intervening period, the relations between the two communities were extremely strained and the general atmosphere in the city, and particularly in the disturbed area, was very ominous and uncertain. These were, of course, the natural results of the bitter struggle from which the two communities had just emerged, but they were considerably intensified by other factors. Newspapers on both sides continued to write in such a manner as to inflame the already deeply embittered feelings of their respective communities; the friends and relatives of the persons who had been killed or injured during the first phase of the riots brooded over their wrongs and thought of revenge, while the reports of incidents in the mufassal districts kept the feud alive and burning.

Outbreak of riots.—Shortly before 1 P.M. on the 22nd April, rioting again broke out throughout the disturbed area. The immediate occasion was a brawl between some Hindus and Muhammadans near the junction of Mechua Bazar Street, Cotton Street and Upper Chitpur Road. Considerable uproar and excitement followed on the heels of this incident, and all important shops in Chitpur Road and Cotton Street were immediately closed. The Deputy Commissioner, North District, the local police, and a force consisting of 1 Inspector, 6 Sergeants, 10 sepoys of the Armed Police and 10 constables were quickly on the scene and the rioting was immediately put down. Two of the drunken Muhammadans who participated in the brawl were arrested and the crowds were dispersed.

Narrative of important events: April 22nd.—The Hindus, however, were determined not to take this attack tamely and at about 1-25 P.M. a Muhammadan was attacked in Mullick Street and stabbed so seriously that he subsequently died. The news of this incident quickly spread among the crowds of both Hindus and Muhammadans who had gathered at Upper Chitpur Road; considerable panic resulted and almost all the shops in the Burra Bazar area were immediately closed. Five minutes later, a Muhammadan was injured in Harrison Road and another Muhammadan was injured in Burtolla Street.

A strong force of police was despatched without delay from Lall Bazar; piquets were posted at all the important points and a reserve force was stationed at Burra Bazar thana. Members of the opposing communities, who had in the meantime collected in crowds throughout the disturbed area, now assumed an extremely hostile attitude and began to assault passers-by, whenever they could do so out of sight of the police. The Fire Brigade extinguished the fire and four of the rioters were arrested and are being prosecuted. At 12 noon a Muhammadan Kabuli was attacked in Harrison Road by a number of Hindus, who relieved him of property to the value of Rs. 250, and twenty persons were arrested in this connection later in the day. At about 8-30 P.M. a Hindu house in a Muhammadan bustee in Mohan Bagan Lane was found in flames, but the fire was extinguished without the assistance of the Fire Brigade.

April 30th.—About half an hour after midnight, three calves and a bullock were found to have been poisoned in Corporation Street. They were treated and cured, but the incident infuriated the Hindus, who believed that the animals had been poisoned by the Muhammadans and collected in large numbers. Ultimately, however, they were pacified and dispersed by the police. At about 6-30 A.M. a party of Hindus held up a taxi driven by a Muhammadan at the junction of Baranashi Ghosh Street and Cornwallis Street and assaulted the driver, who took to his heels. The mob then removed the car to Maniktala Square, where they set it on fire. The fire was extinguished by the Fire Brigade, but not before damage to the extent of Rs. 1,000 had been caused. In the course of enquiry into this case, it was ascertained that leaflets urging the Hindus not to use certain taxis, of which the taxi in question was one, had been printed at two Bengali presses, namely, the Surjodoy Press in Upper Chitpur Road and the Oriental Printing Works in Brindaban Bysack Street. The proprietors of these printing presses and certain Hindus who assisted in distributing the pamphlets were arrested and are being prosecuted under sections 153, 440, 114 and 120B of the Indian Penal Code. At 8-30 A.M. a Muhammadan carter was assaulted near the Srimoni Market in Simla Street. At 1-15 P.M. the Muhammadan driver of a motor lorry was held up in Ratan Sircar Garden Street by a Hindu mob who had been lying in wait in a neighbouring godown, but he was rescued almost immediately by the police. At about this time, a Bengali shop in Colutolla Street, which had been deserted by the owner since the first phase of the riots, was broken open by a party of Muhammadans, who looted property to the value of Rs. 500. Seventeen persons are being prosecuted in this connection. At about 2 P.M. some premises occupied by Marwaris in Nawab Badruddin Street were looted, but the extent of the damage is not yet known. At 7 P.M. a Muhammadan water-carrier was stabbed in Canal East Road by two up-country Hindu carters, who were subsequently arrested by the police and are being prosecuted.

May 1st.—On the 1st May, the situation was very much quieter and the only incident occurred at about 8-30 A.M., when a bullock cart belonging to a Muhammadan was set on fire in Amherst Street. A Bengali Hindu was arrested in this connection and is being prosecuted under sections 440 and 153, Indian Penal Code.

May 2nd.—At about 1-30 A.M. on the 2nd May, a Head Constable noticed smoke rising from a deserted bustee in Mechua Bazar Street. The fire was extinguished by the Fire Brigade before much damage could be done and it was suspected that the outrage was committed by some local Hindu goondas. During the course of the day, a Muhammadan was assaulted in Beadon Street by a party of Hindus, of whom four have been arrested, and on the following night a Marwari house in Munshi Sadaruddin Lane was looted.

May 3rd.—The 3rd May was comparatively quiet and the day was marked by only one incident, namely, the assault of a Muhammadan in Burtola by three Hindus and Marwaris.

May 4th.—On the 4th May only one incident occurred. At about 8 A.M. two Muhammadan masons were surrounded on their way to work by a Hindu mob, who then caused their beards and moustaches to be shaved by a local barber, under the threat that, if they resisted, they would be killed. The Muhammadans subsequently complained to the police, who, on their identification, arrested eight persons, who are now undergoing trial.

May 5th.—On the 5th May the premises at No. 7, Nawab Badruddin Street, were looted for the second time and three Muhammadans were arrested in this connection.

May 6th.—On the 6th May no disturbance occurred, but considerable excitement was engendered by the fact that a piece of beef was found on the verandah of the first floor of a house in Armenian Street, which is occupied by a number of orthodox Marwari and Gujrati Hindus, while another piece was found on the threshold of a room on the first floor of a house in Central Avenue, which is occupied exclusively by orthodox Hindu families.

The next two days were without incident, but the atmosphere throughout the disturbed area was charged with panic and all parties were equally unwilling to resume normal relations until after the annual Sikh procession which, originally fixed for the 13th April, had, in consequence of the abnormal conditions obtaining at that time, been postponed by the authorities, who gave an assurance that it should be held on the 9th May.

For the reasons recorded in the report on the first phase of the riots, the foregoing narrative does not claim to be an exhaustive list of the events that took place in Calcutta during the period under review, but an attempt has been made to provide an account that will convey a sufficient impression of the character and course of the riots.

Sikh Procession.—The procession is normally an occasion of rejoicing and is attended by representatives of all communities, but in the present instance the circumstances were such as to give rise to serious apprehensions of a collision between the Hindu and Muhammadan communities. With a view to avoiding this contingency as far as possible, a conference of the leaders of the Sikh, Hindu and Muhammadan communities was convened at Government House on the 7th May for the purpose of effecting a compromise. The leaders were unable, however, to arrive at an agreement and His Excellency the Governor therefore decided that the procession should be held on the 9th May, as previously arranged, but that the regulations affecting music should not be regarded as a precedent for the award of any concession to either side. In pursuance of this decision, most elaborate precautions were then taken by the police to avoid the possibility of a disturbance, and the procession itself was accompanied by strong bodies of police, reinforced by armoured cars and military forces. At the commencement, the procession consisted of about 3,000 Sikhs and about 300 to 400 Hindus and Marwaris, who had, in accordance with previous practice, been formally invited to join the procession. Among the processionists were members of a number of Hindu and Marwari associations and invitations were also extended, as usual, to Muhammadan public bodies who, however, declined to attend. Thanks to the precautionary measures which had been adopted and to the orderly conduct of the Sikhs, the procession passed in safety, and the Muhammadan leaders afforded valuable assistance in securing this result. It has been alleged that the procession was attended by many thousands of Hindus, who used it as a means of celebrating their triumph over the Muhammadans in the matter of passing mosques with music, and that the general conduct of the processionists was provocative in character. These allegations, however, involve great exaggeration. The maximum number of persons in the procession at any stage of the route could not have been more than 5,000, for, although outsiders frequently joined the procession, they were speedily cut off by the police. The general conduct of the processionists was also extremely orderly and, until all the mosques which fell on the line of route had been passed, the music played by the bands was in no way exceptionable.

As was hoped, the effect of the procession on the conditions in the disturbed area was extremely good. All parties realised that Government were determined and able to promote the re-establishment of normal conditions and, thereafter, they proceeded gradually to settle down to their usual avocations.

On the analogy, therefore, of the first phase of the riots, where the successful celebration of the Id-ul-fitr brought open hostilities to a temporary close, the safe passage of the procession may be said to mark the conclusion of the Calcutta riots of April and May 1926.

Measures taken to quell the riots.—As has been stated elsewhere, the atmosphere in the disturbed area continued to be very uncertain even after the conclusion of the first phase of the riots and a force of nine sergeants, nine non-commissioned officers, forty-five sepoys and thirty-two constables, supported by two sergeants, two Head Constables and ten sowars of the Mounted Police, had accordingly been kept permanently posted on all important crossings to patrol this area both day and night. When the second phase of the riots broke out on the 22nd April, therefore, the district police under the command of Mr. H. C. Hunt, Deputy Commissioner, North District, who was immediately on the scene, were enabled to cope with the initial outbreak. Reinforcements were, however, immediately rushed out from Lall Bazar, on receipt of a telephonic message from one of the armed piquets. Strong piquets were posted at all important junctions and a reserve force was stationed at Burra Bazar thana. When the rioting began to spread beyond the scene of the original disturbance, further measures were adopted and by 2 P.M. all available reserves had been mobilised and every possible precaution taken. In addition to the piquets stationed on all the important crossings, fifty men from the North Division, Port Police, had been drafted into Harrison Road: motor lorries had been hired, and motor patrols put into operation, and the whole of the Traffic Police, Armed Police and Mounted Police had been recalled from their normal duties and made to stand by at Lall Bazar.

In view, however, of the number of by-lanes and gulleys with which that part of Calcutta is honeycombed, this force was unable to prevent the commission of isolated assaults which then began to occur and, on the evening of the 23rd April, a force of 100 men of the Eastern Frontier Rifles, under the command of Captain L. Y. Bazett, was brought in from Chinsura. Half of these men were stationed in piquets in the disturbed area and the remaining half were kept in reserve.

On the following morning a further contingent of fifty men of the Eastern Frontier Rifles arrived from Dacca and half of this force also was posted in the affected area. One hundred additional men were received on the morning of the 26th April and these were either used to furnish reliefs or were employed in motor patrols. On this date, also, twenty-four men of His Excellency the Governor's Bodyguard were attached to the Calcutta Police for duty and were utilised in strengthening the mounted patrols in the disturbed area.

On the 27th April one Indian officer and sixty other ranks of the Bengal Armed Police, attached to Jalpaiguri district, were placed at the disposal of the Commissioner of Police by the Inspector-General of Police, Bengal, and were used chiefly in furnishing armed patrols and piquets in the Watgunge area in Kidderpore.

On the 29th April, fifty men of the North Staffordshire Regiment were enrolled as temporary sergeants of police and, on the 1st May, an equal number of the Cheshire Regiment were similarly enrolled. These men have been recruited for a period of three months, by which time it is hoped that the present outburst of communal feeling will have greatly abated. The sanction of Government to this measure was obtained in view of the necessity, demonstrated during the first phase of the riots, for strengthening the European element of the police force. In addition to the fact that this element commanded the confidence of both communities, by reason of their undoubted impartiality, they were especially useful in command of patrols, who were frequently required to act independently in dispersing dangerous mobs. The permanent staff of European Inspectors and sergeants were feeling the effects of the great and continuous strain imposed on them throughout the first phase of the riots, and it was necessary to afford them some relief. Moreover, the large number of individual assaults, which particularly characterised the second phase of the riots, required the establishment of an even closer network of patrols than previously, and it was essential that as many as possible of these should be in charge of persons capable of exercising initiative. The decision to retain their services for a period of three months has been arrived at in consideration, firstly, of their moral effect and, secondly, of the grave possibility of further outbreaks of rioting within this period, and particularly on the occasions of the Bakr-Id and the Muharram. In this matter, Government and the public are greatly indebted to General Ward, who generously agreed to lend the services of these men, though their temporary deputation to the police force must inevitably involve inconvenience to the military authorities.

The dispositions of all these forces were, generally speaking, on the same lines as those which proved so effective in the first phase of the riots.

Apart from the ordinary patrols and piquets, special forces of police were detailed to accompany tram cars and postal vans running through the disturbed area and an additional force was set apart for supplying guards to a number of post offices.

From the morning of the 24th April, eight taxi-cabs were hired for the purpose of conveying light motor patrols, each consisting of three sergeants and two sepoys of the Armed Police, to deal with cases where larger motor patrols were unnecessary. These were utilised both day and night and were found very effective.

It was not found necessary during the second phase of the riots to requisition the assistance of military forces, but four armoured cars, equipped with crews supplied by the Calcutta Presidency Battalion, were placed at the disposal of the police.

The efficiency of the armoured cars as a means of dispersing rioters, to which reference was made in the report on the first phase of the riots, was demonstrated even more clearly during the second phase, when they were employed more frequently and in more serious disturbances, and their services were of the greatest possible assistance in keeping the situation under control.

Throughout both phases of the riots Captain T. Hoggan and the crews of the armoured cars, who are all volunteers, have rendered valuable services, at considerable inconvenience to themselves and at the expense of their normal business. Moreover, in addition to the fact that they were frequently in positions of danger, they remained on duty for long hours at a stretch and endured considerable personal discomfort throughout an extended period, and the warmest thanks of the public are due to them for the efficiency and self-sacrifice which they have displayed in the present crisis.

Telephones.—An important factor, which contributed very materially to the success of the measures adopted by the authorities to control the disturbances and to check the excesses of the rioters, was the working of the telephone system in Calcutta and there can be little doubt that, but for its aid, the damage resulting from the riots would have been infinitely more serious. Mention has been made, in the report on the first phase of the riots, of the importance of the telephone system in the control of fires, but it was of equal, if not greater, value in the working of the preventive measures adopted by the police and in reassuring members of the general public, both in and beyond the disturbed area.

As was natural, the bulk of the work imposed upon the telephone system by the riots fell to the lot of the Burra Bazar Exchange, which serves the whole of the northern part of the city, and the cheerful and efficient manner in which the staff responded to this great and continuous strain on their endurance is worthy of the highest praise.

When the first rioting broke out on Good Friday afternoon, this Exchange was manned by only a holiday staff and it is an eloquent tribute to the efficiency of the operators and of the telephone system itself that, although they were seriously undermanned, they were able to cope with the flood of messages which at once began to pour through. They were reinforced as quickly as possible and, thereafter, throughout the whole period of the riots, they were required to deal with a large and continuous flow of messages, which at some periods were twice as numerous as the messages normally passing through this Exchange. As an example of this fact, it may be stated that, during the period from the 23rd to the 27th of April, the Burra Bazar Exchange dealt with 105,391 effective calls, in addition to nearly 40,000 calls which were ineffective owing to numbers being engaged or to other causes. As the average number dealt with by this Exchange during similar periods in normal times is about 55,000. Miss P. Ricker, the Superintendent of the Exchange, and her staff are to be heartily congratulated on the efficiency with which they responded to this unprecedented call on their services.

Communities participating in the riots.—As in the case of the first phase, the rioting was confined almost entirely to the Muhammadans and up-country Hindus. The Bengali Hindus participated to a greater degree than in the first phase, but, generally speaking, they remained on the defensive. The Sikh community remained completely aloof from the struggle and in only one isolated incident did a member of this community participate.

Casualties among the public.—No less than 66 persons were killed, or died as a result of injuries received, during the second phase of the riots and 391 persons were so seriously wounded as to warrant their admission into hospital. The dead persons included 30 Hindus, 31 Muhammadans and 5 persons of doubtful nationality, while the persons admitted into hospital consisted of 172 Hindus, 213 Muhammadans and 6 persons whose nationality is not known. Appended is a statement of the casualties, giving the dates on which they occurred:—

23rd April 1926 ...	61	6
24th April 1926 ...	71	9
25th April 1926 ...	91	7

For the reasons explained in the report on the first phase of the riots, it is unlikely that these figures represent the total casualties resulting from the rioting which occurred between the 22nd April and 3rd May.

Police casualties.—The casualties amongst the Calcutta Police force were comparatively slight and consisted of one death and four serious injuries. A number of other officers received minor injuries, but they were not admitted into hospital and their cases have not been included.

Arrests.—The total number of persons arrested during the second phase of the riots was 567, of whom 398 were Muhammadans and 169 Hindus. A large number of these had to be discharged for lack of evidence, but 360 persons, including 272 Muhammadans and 88 Hindus, were sent up for trial.

Individual assaults.—It will be remarked from the foregoing narrative that, although there were frequent collisions between large bodies of the two opposing communities, the chief characteristic of the second phase of the riots was the very large number of attacks on individuals by small roving bands of the opposite faction. The great majority of these attacks were undoubtedly committed by the goonda element of the population, who took full advantage of the great facilities for this form of crime, which were afforded by the labyrinthine character of the locality in which the attacks were committed. These assaults were, almost without exception, committed in apparently deserted streets, out of sight of the police, and frequently just after a police patrol had passed and, in view of this fact and of the difficulties attaching to the control of the form of crime, which have been indicated in the report on the first phase of the riots, many of the assailants succeeded in escaping the legal liabilities of their action. Such methods as were possible, however, were adopted. Goondas and other persons known to be addicted to this form of crime were rounded up and were prosecuted whenever evidence subsequently proved available, and the localities in which the assaults were committed were raided immediately afterwards for suspicious persons and for illegal weapons. As is apparent from the narrative, these measures ultimately achieved their desired effect and the number of assaults decreased in proportion to the increase in the number of arrests.

Looting.—Instances of looting, however, were considerably less frequent than in the first phase of the riots, and throughout the whole period of the second phase, only 21 cases of looting occurred. In some of these cases, the premises were deserted at the time when they were looted and the extent of the damage caused, therefore, is difficult to compute; whereas in other cases, the value of the property looted was almost certainly exaggerated. The difficulty of obtaining even an approximately accurate estimate of the total damage still remains, therefore, but it is improbable that the figure was less than Rs. 10,000. There can be little question that the goonda element of the population were, if anything, more active in the second phase of the riots than in the first, and the decrease in the number of cases of looting is, therefore, all the more striking. It is to be remembered, however, that the great majority of the cases of looting in the first phase of the riots occurred within the first two or three days, before the full effect of the patrols and other measures was achieved. Thereafter, the hooligan element of the population learnt by experience that the commission of any crime occupying more than a few minutes was met by instant arrest or other preventive action on the part of the police. They were reduced therefore to the commission of individual assaults, which could be accomplished in a moment with comparative impunity. A contributory factor was undoubtedly the deterrent effect of the arrests made by the police during the first phase of the riots. These, although not extraordinarily numerous, included a large number of actual rioters and bad characters, whose apprehension furnished a much-needed lesson to other potential wrong-doers.

"Goondas."—As in the first phase, the goonda element of the population participated freely in the rioting, and the fact that all the available police were fully occupied in the suppression of open rioting and other acts of violence made it difficult to deal with them effectively. Such of the goondas as came actively to notice during the riots were, of course, arrested and, where evidence was sufficient, were placed on trial, but the leaders and the main body of the goondas still remained. The only agency to deal with these persons was a very depleted Detective Department, several officers of which had been temporarily attached to the North District for investigation work, while the majority of the remainder were more than fully employed in coping with the enormous quantity of clerical work resulting from the numerous arrests which had been already taken place. Despite these great difficulties, however, forty-eight bad characters, including several of the most notorious goonda leaders in Calcutta, were arrested, of whom twenty-five were proceeded against under the Goondas Act or were prosecuted under the ordinary law, while forty-three others elected to leave Calcutta.

In view of the inadequacy of the existing law for dealing swiftly and effectively with goondas in times of emergency, the Presidency Area (Emergency) Security Act (III of 1926) was enacted on the 24th May and a large number of dangerous bad characters have since been dealt with under its provisions. The great majority of these persons, though belonging to the hooligan class, were not people who could have been dealt with under the Goondas Act, 1923.

Attacks on religious institutions.—It is gratifying to record that the series of attacks on religious institutions, which formed the most remarkable feature of the first phase of the riots, was not repeated during the second period. This, however, must be attributed to the effectiveness of the police arrangements rather than to any lack of desire on the part of the warring communities to resort to this method of revenge. As stated elsewhere, they realised that the commission of any crime occuping more than a few moments was no longer possible and only one actual attempt to desecrate a holy place was made. This occurred at about midnight on the 26th-27th April, when a piece of burning cloth was thrown into the Sona Pir Dargah in Durga Charan Mitra Street and the cover over the dargah was set on fire. The fire was at once extinguished by the police sergeant who was on duty near the building and two persons were arrested, one of whom has been prosecuted under section 295, Indian Penal Code.

Incendiarism.—Instances of incendiarism were also strikingly less frequent than in the first phase of the riots, and the total number of fires during the second period which can be definitely attributed to the rioters was fifteen only. In no case did the fires assume serious proportions and they were quickly extinguished by the Fire Brigade. On eight occasions, the Fire Brigade was summoned by the occupants of premises before which crowds had collected, the occupants explaining in each case that they called the Brigade in the apprehension that the rioters were about to set fire to their houses. It is probable, however, that the real reason was that they desired the presence of a body of disciplined men, in case the police did not arrive in time to prevent other acts of aggression on the part of the rioters.

The Ambulance Department also had considerably less to do than in the first phase and the total number of calls made on them was 172.

In both departments, however, the high standard of efficiency which was set during the first phase of the riots was fully maintained throughout the second period.

Indian press.—As has been stated elsewhere, the conclusion of the first phase of the riots was not accompanied by any appreciable change in the attitude of the vernacular press, which continued to display an intensely communal spirit, and there can be little doubt that this factor contributed very materially to the maintenance of the extreme tension which rendered it possible for the second phase of the riots to break out from such a trifling cause as a drunken brawl. With the renewal of hostilities, it became highly dangerous to allow this form of propaganda to continue and Government accordingly sanctioned a number of prosecutions under sections 153A, Indian Penal Code, and 108, Criminal Procedure Code. Four of the offending journals were Muhammadan, while six were Hindu, and the results of the prosecutions are detailed below :—

(1) Matwala.—Editor, printer and publisher—Mahadeo Prosad; 4 months' simple imprisonment under section 153A, Indian Penal Code.

(2) Sultan.—Editor and publisher—Ali Muhammad Islamabadi; 3 months' simple imprisonment under section 153A, Indian Penal Code.

(3) Durmukh.—Editor, printer and publisher—Apurba Krishna Ghose; 1 month's simple imprisonment and fined Rs. 200, in default 2 months' simple imprisonment, under section 153A, Indian Penal Code.

(4) Hanafi Jamayat.—Editor Dilwar Hossain; 1 month's simple imprisonment and fined Rs. 100, in default 1 month's simple imprisonment, under section 153A, Indian Penal Code. Printer and publisher Tosaddak Hossain; 1 month's simple imprisonment and fined Rs. 100, in default 1 month's simple imprisonment.

(5) Islam Jagat.—Editor—Idris Ali; fined Rs. 200, in default 2 months' simple imprisonment, under section 153A, Indian Penal Code.

(6) Bharat Mitra.—Editor—Nanda Lal Atal; convicted under section 153A, Indian Penal Code, and ordered to execute a bond with one surety for Rs. 200 under section 562, Criminal Procedure Code. Printer—Kalipada Ghose; convicted under section 153A, Indian Penal Code, and directed to execute a bond of Rs. 100 under section 562, Criminal Procedure Code.

(7) Mohammadi.—Editor, printer and publisher—Fazlul Huq; under section 108, Criminal Procedure Code, ordered to execute a bond with one surety for Rs. 500 for one year, in default one year's simple imprisonment.

(8) Forward.—Editor—P. K. Chakrabarty; under section 108, Criminal Procedure Code, ordered to execute a bond for Rs. 500, in default 6 months' simple imprisonment. Printer and publisher—Pulin Behari Dhar; discharged.

(9) Basumati.—Editor—Hemendra Prosad Ghose, and printer and publisher—Purna Chandra Mukherji; found guilty under section 153A, Indian Penal Code, but dealt with under section 562, Criminal Procedure Code, and warned and discharged.

(10) Amrita Bazar Patrika.—Editor—Golap Lal Ghose, and printer—Tarit Kanta Biswas; discharged on their filing an undertaking and regretting their conduct.

These prosecutions had an appreciable effect upon the character of the writings in the major journals of the Indian press. There were, however, a number of vernacular papers,—some of which made their first appearance during this period,—which continued during the course of the trials to publish highly inflammatory articles.

Leaflets.—The publication of inflammatory leaflets, which began towards the end of the first phase of the riots, continued without remission throughout the second phase and a large number of highly mischievous leaflets were issued by both the contending parties.

Exodus of members of the public from Calcutta.—The general exodus of residents of the disturbed area, which began during the first phase of the riots and continued during the temporary lull in open conflict, increased materially after the renewal of the rioting on the 22nd April and continued without abatement until after all the rioting had been put down. Some of these persons returned to Calcutta after the re-establishment of normal conditions, but large numbers are still absent and are unlikely to return to the city for some time to come.

Boycott.—Open conflict between the members of the rival communities was the most serious and obvious manifestation of the great communal tension which has led to the occurrence of the present riots, but it was equally natural that this tension should be reflected in the ordinary every-day life of the two communities and the excesses committed on both sides increased the mutual desire for wreaking vengeance by every possible means. As was to be expected, therefore, both communities have striven to injure their opponents both socially and pecuniarily, by means of a general boycott. * * * The chief results of this movement have been a disinclination on the part of the Hindu moneyed-classes to employ Muhammadan labour, a general tendency on both sides to restrict their recruitment of employees to members of their own communities, a movement on the part of market gardeners and other persons in a small way of business to confine their supplies to their co-religionists, an endeavour to establish more Muhammadan shops and in other ways to increase the proportion of Muhammadans in the mercantile and trading community, of which at present they form a very small percentage, and a suspension of the former practice on both sides of paying respect to the religious institutions of the opposite community. It is gratifying to record, however, that the movement has not been completely general, though this fact is, of course, partially attributable to the obstacles presented by the existing scheme of social and commercial life in Calcutta, and that a number of the more enlightened leaders of both communities have thrown their weight in the scale against the movement.

Relief Committees.—Shortly after the commencement of the first phase of the riots, the Muhammadans in Calcutta started a relief committee which they called the "Central Moslem Relief Committee" and this was followed very quickly by the formation of a Hindu Relief Committee. The objects of these committees were to look after the members of their own communities who were injured in the riots, to provide for the families of those who were killed and to distribute food to those who had been thrown into want, either by the absence of supplies or by their inability to follow their normal pursuits. For the main part, both the committees adhered to these objects and rendered appreciable service to the public in the disturbed area, particularly during the second phase of the riots, when large numbers would otherwise have suffered from the want of food. The Central Moslem Relief Committee also opened two small private hospitals where a number of cases were treated. * * * *

Allegations against the police.—The unbridled criticism of the police which marked the first phase of the riots was repeated in the second phase and in almost every instance the charges proved to be equally baseless. Most of the complaints were confined to articles and letters in the press and to written and verbal allegations made to the Commissioner and other superior officers of the police and were entirely unsupported by evidence, but serious charges were preferred in the courts against two police officers and these are still sub judice.

Four separate complaints were lodged in court on the 17th May by Muhammadan residents of Mechua Bazar, accusing Inspector R. D. Khosla of Sukea Street police-station of the commission of murder, trespass and assault on the morning of the 27th April, shortly after the murder of Head Constable Bharat Roy. Three of these complaints were lodged before Mr. A. Z. Khan, Additional Chief Presidency Magistrate, who after a preliminary enquiry summoned the Inspector for trial, and all three cases are still pending. The fourth complaint, which accused the Inspector of murder and trespass, was lodged before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, who, after examining the complainant's witnesses, dismissed the charge as being palpably false and a deliberate attempt to implicate the Inspector.

Charges under sections 448 and 324, Indian Penal Code, were also preferred against Sub-Inspector M. S. A. Ahmed, of Burra Bazar police-station by a Marwari benia, and this case is at present being tried by the Chief Presidency Magistrate.

Dislocation of business.—An inevitable result of the riots was a serious dislocation of business throughout Calcutta. Immediately after the first outbreak on the 2nd of April, a large number of shops in the disturbed area closed down and remained closed almost continuously throughout the first phase of the riots. In the period of lull which followed, the shops gradually opened, but few outsiders came in to market and even the local business was very dull in consequence of the state of panic which still prevailed. With the renewal of rioting on the 22nd April, the shops again closed down and with few exceptions did not re-open until after the Sikh procession on the 9th May.

A number of markets were also seriously affected, firstly, because many of the stall-keepers were either engaged in the rioting or were confined to their homes in the disturbed area and, secondly, because the vegetable and fish vendors residing outside Calcutta were afraid to come into the city to sell their goods. The result was a serious shortage in the supply of food-stuffs, particularly of meat, fish, fruit and vegetables, and such commodities as were available increased appreciably in price. This difficulty was, however, largely overcome in the case of the New Market by the action of the market authorities in arranging for the escort of vegetables and poultry from Sealdah Station, and by the public-spirited efforts of a number of volunteers, who arranged for a regular supply of beef and mutton and furnished protection to the butchers during their journeys to and from Chitpur and other cattle markets. The initiative in these measures was taken by Colonel J. D. Crawford, Secretary of the European Association, who was ably assisted by Lieutenant H. V. Simmons, and they and their party of volunteers, who were temporarily enrolled as Special Constables, undoubtedly averted a serious shortage of food among the section of the public served by the New Market. This excellent example of independence and public spirit was speedily followed by Mr. E. Solomon and other Jewish gentlemen who arranged a regular supply of meat for the members of their community.

An important effect of the riots was a serious hindrance of business in the Share Market owing to the almost entire cessation of commercial activity on the part of the Marwaris, the great majority of whom reside in the disturbed area. Many of these left Calcutta during the riots and even those who remained in the city stayed within their houses and did not engage in business. Even during the period of lull between the first and second phases of the riots, very little business was transacted. * * * * *

Considerable losses must have been suffered by the tramway and omnibus services and by the owners of the private, buses, hackney carriages and rickshaws normally plying in the disturbed area, since many vehicles were damaged by the rioters and vehicular traffic was frequently suspended for long intervals. The chief sufferers were undoubtedly the Calcutta Tramway Company. With a view to contributing to the maintenance of this important branch of the public conveyance services, police guards were furnished as far as possible to tram cars travelling through the disturbed area, and the thanks of the public are due to the members of the Tramway Company who faced considerable risk at the hands of the rioters. Generally speaking, the owners of taxi-cabs reaped a considerable harvest, since they were freely employed as being the safest means of conveyance, but a number of Muhammadan taxi-cabs were completely boycotted, as a result of leaflets which were published, warning the Hindus that it was dangerous to travel in these particular vehicles.

An important feature of the riots, which had a serious effect upon the trade of Calcutta, was the suspension of traffic in the Docks and railway stations in consequence of the absence of carters and coolies. This was partly attributable to the disturbances which took place in the Docks between Muhammadan khalasis and Hindu labourers, but the chief cause lay in the fact that most of these persons reside in the disturbed area. * * * Not only were the passengers put to considerable inconvenience and in many cases prevented from reaching their destinations, but large quantities of merchandise were held up both at the jetties and goods yards. Merchants who had to dispose of their goods on forward contracts were threatened with serious losses, and perishable goods, such as fruits and vegetables, had frequently to be thrown away.

One of the worst features of the second phase of the riots was the almost entire suspension, for a number of days, of the conservancy arrangements in the disturbed area, in consequence of the fear of the Hindu sweepers and scavengers that they would be attacked by Muhammadans during the performance of their duties. The interruption of these arrangements threatened a serious general epidemic and remedial measures speedily became imperative. As soon as they asked for them, the Corporation authorities were furnished with police guards to protect such of their scavenging staff as could be persuaded to go out and the menace was successfully averted. In certain instances, Bengali youths displayed commendable public spirit by voluntarily assisting in removing refuse.

Present situation.—The communal upheaval which began on the 2nd April may be said to have concluded with the safe passage of the Sikh procession on the 9th May. It would be rash to presume, however, from the absence of any open conflict that the communal tension has in any degree abated. On the contrary, many situations have arisen which might have led to a serious recrudescence of rioting, and this has only been avoided by the exercise of the most constant vigilance and care on the part of the police. The situation still bristles with dangerous possibilities; the communal animosity responsible for and further increased by the riots is still clearly apparent, and it is unhappily beyond question that no relaxation of precautions will be possible for some time to come.

CALCUTTA, the 30th June 1926.

BRIEF REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT (VIII OF 1923) IN BENGAL, FROM 1st JANUARY TO 31st DECEMBER 1925.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 3338Com.—The 26th June 1926.—The following report submitted by the Commissioner for Workmen's Compensation, Bengal, on the working of Act VIII of 1923 in Bengal during the year 1925 is published for general information.

M. C. MCALPIN,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal (offg.).

This is the Second Annual Report under the Workmen's Compensation Act, and the first for a complete year, the Act having come into force on July 1st, 1924.

Applications under section 10.—Twenty-six applications for compensation were filed during the year, twelve by workmen and fourteen by dependants of deceased workmen, as against only one in the six months covered by the last report. All except 4 were disposed of during the year. Of the remaining 22, half were uncontested, and the applicants obtained awards. Of the 11 contested claims 7 were allowed in part and 4 were dismissed.

Applications under section 12.—Two cases were instituted by a Railway Company against contractors, claiming to be indemnified under section 12 of the Act for compensation paid to dependants of contractors' workmen who were killed in accidents. A preliminary issue of law was found against the applicant, and the cases were withdrawn, with permission to file fresh suits on the same facts. Fresh suits were filed (hence four cases appear in the returns). These were pending at the end of the year.

Deposit of compensation under sections 8 (1) and 8 (2).—Fourteen cases were pending from the previous year; in 12 no application had as yet been received from dependants and in two applications had only just been received. One hundred and forty deposits were received during the year (as against 27 the year before), and one case was transferred to me by the Commissioner for Rangoon Town. All except ten were deposits under section 8 (1) for dependants of workmen who had lost their lives; the remaining ten were deposits under section 8 (2) for injured workmen.

In five cases the money was refunded to the employer either because there was no claimant, or the claimant was not a dependant under the Act, or because it had been deposited with the wrong Commissioner.

Twelve of these deposit cases were transferred to other Commissioners for disposal under section 21 (2) of the Act, for the convenience of the dependants, for whom a journey to Calcutta would have been long and expensive.

Twenty-eight cases are pending, in 26 of which no application had been received during the year under report. The two other cases are deposits under section 8 (2), in which the workmen had not attended to receive payment.

Registration of Agreements.—One hundred and sixty-four memoranda of agreement were presented for registration during the year under report, as against 17 during the preceding six months.

Two of these were agreements for half-monthly payments to minors for temporary disablement; four were agreements to commute half-monthly payments to a lump sum, and the rest were ordinary agreements for permanent disablement.

Only six of these are pending. In a great many cases a representative of the employer brought the workman to me and the matter was settled then and there.

Compensation received and paid.—During the year under report Rs. 1,04,994-13-9 was deposited by employers as compensation. Rs. 720 was received by transfer from Rangoon, and there was a balance of Rs. 9,901-8 in hand at the beginning of the year, making a total of Rs. 1,15,616-5. This was dealt with as follows :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Paid to dependants	85,380	1	9
Transferred	7,417	8	0
Leaving as balance at the end of the year .	19,053	12	0

Investment.—Under rule 10 of the Workmen's Compensation Rules, 1924, compensation payable to dependants under a legal disability may be invested in the Post Office Savings Bank or in Government securities.

As the amounts are small and remittances have to be sent monthly, Government securities are seldom a suitable form of investment. In the case of Hindu minor widows it is indeed of no use investing the money at all, and it has been my practice to allow the guardian to buy land with it, taking every precaution to safeguard the widow's interest. In the usual case, however, of minor children, who have only to be maintained until they can earn their living or are married, I invest the money in the Post Office Savings Bank and send monthly remittances to the guardian. In this way the capital is consumed in a few years, but waste and embezzlement are prevented and the object of the compensation is attained.

At the beginning of the year no procedure existed for opening such accounts, but a reference was made to the Director-General of Post Offices in January and special rules were made enabling the Commissioner to open accounts in the name of dependants. On this Rs. 3,740 which had been kept in deposit for investment from the preceding year was invested in the Post Office Savings Bank, and Rs. 16,212-8 was invested during the year under report. Forty-seven accounts in all have been opened. Of the total of Rs. 19,932-8 invested during the year, Rs. 4,198-5-9 has been withdrawn and paid.

Returns.—This year in order to secure more accurate annual returns from employers, a printed letter was sent out with the forms containing full instructions, drawn up on the experience of the preceding year. It is to be feared that the instructions were not carefully read, the commonest mistake being that, when there were no accidents or payments to report, the number of workmen employed was also not shown. However, there was a great improvement on the previous year. At the time of writing all but 63 returns have been received. Returns were received from 1373 employers, the workmen concerned numbering over six lakhs. Two hundred and eighty-four of these returns were submitted by Insurance Companies and Associations, under Government of India notification No. L-1272, dated the 15th April 1925. A total sum of Rs. 1,22,780 is shown in the returns as paid during the year. This figure is, I think, too low, for, as I have reported above, the sum distributed to dependants by me during the year was Rs. 85,380-1-9 (besides Rs. 7,417-8 transferred to other Commissioners) whereas the returns show only Rs. 61,285 paid for fatal accidents. The fact that a few employers are liable to pay compensation under the Act, but are not required to furnish returns, is not I think a sufficient explanation.

If the returns are correct the workmen concerned have been paid an average of 3 annas 1·5 pies a head, as against 9 pies during the first six months of the operation of the Act.

A summary of the returns received is annexed :—

Working of the Act.—While the figures given above show that the Act is becoming more generally known, and that work is consequently increasing, nevertheless it has not increased to the extent that might have been expected. Employers such as the Railway Companies, Port Commissioners, Jute Mill owners and large engineering firms have realised their responsibilities. It is, however, worthy of note that not one application for compensation has been received from a colliery, although the Additional Magistrate, Dhanbad, who is the Commissioner for the Jherria Coalfield, just across the border, has numerous cases. Accidents occur, for I get reports forwarded by the Chief Inspector of Mines, but last year there were only three agreements presented for registration (all by the same company), and not a single claim. In the case of fatal accidents the Act should give Commissioner power to insist upon the employer either depositing compensation or definitely disclaiming liability: in non-fatal accidents only the spread of knowledge among the workmen can achieve the object.

Workmen's unions and Anjumans have done something in the way of directing claimants to me. If, however, they hope to emulate the work of the British Trades Unions in assisting workmen in Court and fighting test cases in the workmen's interest up to the highest tribunals, they will have to take up the matter much more earnestly.

Commissioner.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE POLICE ADMINISTRATION IN THE TOWN OF CALCUTTA AND ITS SUBURBS FOR THE YEAR 1925.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

POLITICAL DEPARTMENT.

Police.

CALCUTTA, THE 5TH JULY 1926.

RESOLUTION—No. 3219 Pl.

READ—

The Report on the Police Administration in the town of Calcutta and its suburbs for the year 1925.

The office of Commissioner of Police was held throughout the year by Sir Charles Tegart, KT., C.I.E., M.V.O.

2. Recruitment.—The vacancies at the close of the year, in the ranks, mainly, of constables were the highest since 1922. The reason for this was the falling off in recruitment owing to lack of suitable material. Bengalee applicants were few in number and the bulk of those who applied expressed a preference for the clerical duties of the class of 'literate' constables to the beat or street duties which ordinary constables have to perform. Of the up-country applicants who presented themselves for recruitment a very large percentage failed to pass the medical tests. A non-official resolution was tabled in the Legislative Council last year recommending that recruitment in ranks below that of Sub-Inspector should be limited to persons domiciled in the province. It is not without significance that in the rank of constable there are only 138 Bengalees in a sanctioned strength of over 4,200. This is not, however, due to any preference being given to up-country men, but simply to the fact that Bengalees will not enlist as constables. In other ranks, e.g., that of Assistant Sub-Inspector in which over 80 per cent. are Bengalees, there is no difficulty, but the disinclination of the Bengalees for street and beat duty has to be faced and it is unlikely that for some years to come their proportion in the rank of constable will be very much larger than at present. The Governor in Council is glad to note the improvement in the health of the force recorded in the figures of the Commissioner of Police and he trusts that with the better accommodation which the police building schemes will provide there will be a further improvement in this respect.

3. Police Training School.—The complexities of modern city life make a large demand upon the intelligence of the police force and it is of the utmost importance that proper arrangements should be made to impart scientific instruction in various branches of police work to all ranks of the force. This is provided at present at the Police Training School where classes are held for all sections of the force. In addition to being taught to read and write their own vernaculars, all constables under training are now taught the English alphabet and numerals, as well as how to read the clock and colours. Practical instruction is given in taking down the numbers of motor cars on the move in the streets. In the year under report telephone classes were opened to impart practical instruction in the use of the telephone. The school plays a very important part in making the force efficient and it is satisfactory that as many as 450 officers and men attended the revisional classes.

4. Police housing.—The report of the Commissioner shows that satisfactory progress is being made with the police building schemes for which a loan has been taken from the Government of India with the sanction of the Legislative Council. Three section houses and one outpost were completed during the year under report and necessary provision has been made in the current year's budget to complete the other projects. After the close of the year the site at No. 8, Mullick Street, was acquired by Government and it is hoped that the buildings will be completed during the current year, a much needed improvement in the housing conditions of the police of Burrabazar being thereby effected.

5. Crime statistics.—The total of cognisable cases again shows an increase but, as has been pointed out in previous Resolutions on the Calcutta Police Report, it is not the total number of cognisable cases, which is swelled by minor offences under local or special acts, but the figures for serious crime which provide the true index of efficient police work. When the latter figures are examined it will be found that while there is little change in the number of "coining" and "rioting" cases the decrease in the number of true cases of "murder", "dacoity", "robbery", burglary" and "theft" is striking—"murder" dropped from 21 cases in the previous year to 8 in the year under report and "dacoity" from 5 to 1, while "robbery" cases fell from 53 to 41, "burglary" from 1,206 to 736 and "theft" from 4,777 to 4,063, a decline under the last two heads, respectively, of no less than 470 and 714 cases.

This fall in cases under the last three heads was accompanied by a corresponding rise in the percentage of convictions obtained for those crimes. Thus in robbery cases the percentage of convictions obtained in the year under report was 58 as against 51 of the previous year, in burglary cases it was 34 against 25 and in theft cases it was 34 against 27 The Commissioner of Police attributes the general fall in serious crime to a more efficient system of night patrols, better supervision over dangerous criminals, the conviction of the Fariapookur gang and the use of the Goondas Act.

The effect of the operation of the Goondas Act is clearly evident when the period since 1923, when this Act came into force, is surveyed. Since that year there has been a large and steady drop in the number of robberies, burglaries and thefts, a fact which goes to show that the men actually externed were largely responsible for these crimes, and that the Act has been properly used for the purpose for which it was intended. The Governor in Council has no hesitation in agreeing with the Commissioner of Police that credit is due to the district officers and their men for the excellent results achieved.

6. Revolutionary crime and sedition.—The action taken in October 1924 was effective in checking the open activities of the terrorist party and no overt act of terrorism took place during the year under review but the cases under the Arms Act mentioned by the Commissioner of Police showed that attempts at smuggling arms had not ceased. The seizure of arms, explosives and revolutionary literature in Sovabazar Street and Dakhineswar towards the close of the year, and the subsequent trial by a special tribunal brought to the notice of the public the nefarious activities of the terrorist groups.

• Two prosecutions under section 124A were undertaken and were successful. One was a prosecution for a seditious speech delivered in the previous year, the other was for writing and publishing a highly seditious book entitled Biplav-O-Chatra Samaj.

7. Communal friction.—The communal tension evidenced in the previous year by the attack on sikhs by Muhammadans was intensified by the question of the exhumation of the body of the New Market "Pir". Muhammadans regarded the proposal as an affront to their religion and the discussions in connection with it rendered feelings acute, though no action was ultimately taken. One serious case of communal rioting during Bakrid occurred when a large number of Hindus attacked the Muhammadans at King George's Docks over the sacrifice of a cow. The casualties were 1 killed and 37 wounded. Thirty-one rioters were sent up for trial. The case had not finally concluded when the year closed, but it ended in the conviction and sentence to two years' imprisonment of twelve persons.

8. Traffic control.—The rapid increase of motor buses has made the question of traffic control one of special difficulty. During the period under report no less than 253 motor buses were registered as compared with 14 in the previous year and 6 in the year preceding. This increase has been accompanied by a slight reduction in the number of taxi cabs but the existence at the same time of tram cars which cannot deviate from their tracks, slow moving bullock carts, handdrawn rickshaws, horsedrawn vehicles, both fast and slow, and a steadily increasing number of fast moving motor vehicles increases the congestion and adds to the complexity of the situation. It is not surprising, therefore, that the number of street accidents during the year under review shows an increase, the number of injured and killed being, respectively, 1,575 and 125. Of these, motor vehicles were responsible for 950 injured and 88 killed, compared with 846 and 71 in 1924. Separation of the fast and slow moving traffic by restricting bullock carts entirely to certain streets, the introduction of the one way system in certain congested areas, reduction of taxi cab fares so as to discourage prowling by taxi drivers provision of stopping places in more of the important streets, are some of the suggestions under the consideration of the Commissioner of Police. A proposal has also been received to place a wholetime Traffic Deputy Commissioner in charge of the traffic department so that he can devote his wholetime to the study of traffic problems.

The immediate need is closer control through an increased staff of traffic police. During the year under review it was not possible for financial reasons to proceed with a scheme for increasing the staff which has been before Government for sometime but since the close of the year it has been decided to give effect to it

9. The Governor in Council has read with pleasure the list of officers whose good services has been brought to his notice and desires to congratulate Sir Charles Tegart and his staff on the satisfactory record of the year.

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Calcutta, and the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, for information.

Ordered also that a copy of the resolution and a copy of the report be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department.

Ordered also that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF JAIL DEPARTMENT IN THE PRESIDENCY OF BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1925.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Jails.

CALCUTTA, THE 29TH JUNE 1926.

RESOLUTION No. 6993 R. J.

READ—

The report on the administration of Jail Department in the Presidency of Bengal for the year 1925.

READ ALSO—

The reports for the years 1923 and 1924 and the resolutions of Government recorded thereon.

The report on the administration of jails for the year 1925 shows a welcome diminution in the number of prisoners. The average daily number of male convicts fell from 10,635 in 1924 to 10,088, the figures for all classes of prisoners being 13,476 and 12,653. There has been a steady diminution in sickness during recent years; in 1920 the average daily number of sick prisoners was 53 per thousand; in 1925 the number was 34. The death rate in 1925, 13 per thousand, is the lowest on record for the jails of Bengal.

2. In spite of the reduction in the number of prisoners, the cost of guarding and maintaining prisoners increased by about Rs. 1,65,000 to Rs. 24,39,669. The increased cost of diet accounts for Rs. 60,000 of the increase, and the issue of more clothes to prisoners for Rs. 66,000. Establishment cost Rs. 20,000 more, and hospitals and sanitation Rs. 11,000 more. The rest of the increase was due to more expenditure under the heads miscellaneous and contingencies.

3. The Inspector-General of Prisons has given an interesting account of the changes which have been made, most of them being due to the recommendations of the Indian Jails Committee. The most important of these is the change in the treatment of juvenile prisoners. The policy of Government is to establish separate institutions for youthful offenders of different ages, and to manage these institutions on educational lines rather than as prisons. The first step taken in carrying out this policy has been the reconstruction of a large part of the Juvenile Jail at Alipore, and the introduction of technical and general education. An officer with experience of technical education has been recently appointed as Superintendent. It is hoped that the Juvenile Jail will shortly be notified as a reformatory school under the Bengal Children Act, when it will receive youthful offenders between the ages of 12 and 15 years from Calcutta and its suburbs and from Howrah. The next step, which it is proposed to take in 1927, is to establish an institution for offenders from 16 to 21 years of age on the lines of the Borstal School in England. Children under 12 years of age will remain to be provided for. Offenders of this age are fortunately few in number, and it is hoped to provide for them in industrial schools under the Bengal Children Act.

4. The Governor in Council desires to draw attention to the need of provision for the care of prisoners, especially juvenile prisoners, after release. The thanks of Government are due to the Calcutta Prisoners' Aid Society and the authorities of the Refuge. But the good work done by them is limited to Calcutta, and although help has been given to many boys, there is no special organisation, the business of which is to look after and find employment for boys after release. In the Reformatory and Borstal Schools every endeavour will be made to teach the boys useful trades, but if they are to make use of this training in earning an honest livelihood, friendly assistance after release is most necessary. His Excellency in Council holds that public funds may properly be spent in giving that assistance and so saving the released prisoner from reverting to a life of crime ; but he believes that the administration of that assistance is best done by private societies inspired by benevolence and public spirit. He hopes that the present year will see the creation of such societies as well as the reform of the State institutions for the boy offender.

5. The average period of detention of under-trial prisoners in jails was the same as last year in Magistrates' cases, but larger in Sessions cases. Of the latter detention was worst in Calcutta, where the average period was no less than 120 days ; it was bad in Barisal, 84 days, Bogra 78 days and Pabna 76 days. In the Magistrates' Courts, the Berhampore average detention of 78 days is by far the worst, Bankura with 30 days coming next. In all these cases the average period is far larger than that of 1924, and enquiries will be made to ascertain the reason. It is noteworthy that the average detention in Sessions cases in the Madras Presidency in 1924 was only 27·26, whilst the Bengal figure is 48·44.

6. The Governor in Council shares the regret of the Inspector-General of Prisons that short sentences have increased in number. Such sentences cannot be reformative, and their deterrent value is small, but so long as the only forms of punishment provided by the law for most offences are fine and imprisonment, it is difficult for courts to avoid imposing short terms of imprisonment. The suggestion of the Inspector-General of Prisons that a Probation Act should be introduced is being considered.

7. The Government of Bengal have already accepted the view that better classification and separation of the various classes of prisoners is needed in Bengal jails. It is hoped that the separate provision for juvenile prisoners will soon be satisfactory, but adequate separation of first offenders and others from habitual criminals is still not accomplished. It is hoped that a scheme will shortly be placed before the Bengal Legislative Council which will make it possible to reserve the Presidency Jail for habitual prisoners. The Inspector-General of Prisons has been asked to formulate his proposals for a further advance.

8. Attention is drawn by the Inspector-General of Prisons to the need of more paid warders, in order that the practice of employing convict officers may be stopped. This need is one of those which the report of the Panjab Jails Committee has emphasized. The expense involved in meeting it will be great, but the Inspector-General has been asked to submit his proposals.

9. The Advisory Board examined the cases of 308 prisoners with long sentences and recommended the release of 148 ; all but seven of these were thus released by Government. It may be hoped that the encouragement thus given to prisoners to behave well will produce good results. Incidentally the release of these well-behaved prisoners, most of whom were convict officers, has increased the need for more warders.

10. Useful work has again been done by the Boards of Visitors, especially in drawing the attention of the Inspector-General of Prisons and Government to the needs of their jails. There has, however, been a decrease in the number of individual visits by both official and non-official visitors. District Magistrates will be asked to remind visitors of their duty.

11. It is a matter for regret that some jails are still without religious instruction. A difficulty in the way of securing honorary teachers has been removed by the provision of a grant for conveyance allowances, and it is hoped that it will now be possible to find such teachers for every jail.

12. The fall in the average earnings of prisoners sentenced to labour from Rs. 74-10 in 1924 to Rs. 67-13 is unsatisfactory. No explanation has been offered for this. The percentage of prisoners employed in manufactures was slightly higher in 1925 than in 1924, although it was still disappointingly low. Audit reports on the manufactory departments of jails have also given cause for dissatisfaction in recent years. His Excellency in Council is constrained to observe that the attention paid to this side of jail work in the past has been inadequate, and hopes that the investigation which the Inspector-General has been asked to undertake will result in a rapid improvement. On the figures given in the report, the best result was achieved by the Presidency Jail, but the figures for this jail are vitiated by the arbitrary practice of crediting the sale price of quinine tablets half and half' too the Mungpo Factory, which makes the quinine and the jail where the quinine is turned into tablets and distributed, a practice which will be discontinued when the manufacture of tablets is transferred to Mungpoo. When allowance is made for this, the best manufacturing work appears to have been done at the Dacca Central Jail, where the woollen factory has been successful.

13. The thanks of Government are due to Lieutenant Colonel W. G. Hamilton, I.M.S., for his administration of the jails during 1925, and to him and Major N. S. Simpson, I.M.S., for a report of much interest. His Excellency in Council trusts that in the future a stricter sense of discipline and responsibility will be manifested by the Superintendents and other officers of the jails and, in particular, that more attention will be given to manufacturing work.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Prisons, Bengal, for information.

Ordered that copy of this resolution and a copy of the report be submitted to the Government of India in the Home Department.

Ordered also that the resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

LAND ACQUISITION.

No. 7117L.A.—The 2nd July 1926.—The following agreement is published under section 42 of the Land Acquisition Act, I of 1894, for general information.

W. S. HOPKYNS,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

STAMP OF 12 ANNAS.

Memorandum of Agreement made this day the 24th June 1926 between the Calcutta Medical Aid and Research Society (Registered under Act XXI of 1860) and having its registered office at Calcutta in the district of 24-Parganas (hereinafter called the Society) of the one part and the Secretary of State for India in Council (hereinafter called the Secretary of State) of the other part.

Whereas for the purpose of the construction of a new hospital for the treatment of the sick and the convalescent the Society has applied to the Government of Bengal for the acquisition under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, of the piece or parcel of land containing 56 bighas and 10 cottahs or thereabout situate in the village of Jadavpur in the district of 24-Parganas and more particularly described in the schedule hereto attached and delineated in the plan* hereunto annexed.

And whereas the said Government of Bengal, being satisfied by an enquiry held under section 40 of the said Act that the proposed acquisition is needed for the aforesaid purpose and that the said work is likely to prove useful to the public, has consented to acquire on behalf of the Society the piece or parcel of land hereinbefore described.

And whereas the said Government of Bengal has required the Society under the provisions of section 41 of the abovementioned Act to enter into the agreement with the Secretary of State hereinafter contained.

Now this Indenture witnesseth that it is hereby agreed and declared as follows :—

(1) On demand the Society shall and will pay to the said Government of Bengal all and every compensation in respect of the said land tendered, paid or awarded or to be tendered, paid or awarded by the Collector under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, or by the Court to which a reference under Part III of the said Act may be made, or by the Court or Courts, to which an appeal from the award of the said Court may be preferred and all costs, charges and expenses of the proceedings in the aforesaid Courts, or otherwise incidental to the proposed acquisition or payable in respect thereof under the provisions of the said Act.

(2) On demand made by the said Collector the obligations of the Society under the last preceding clause not being thereby limited, the Society shall and will deposit with the said Collector such sum or sums of money as in his discretion the said Collector may in anticipation estimate to be necessary for the purpose mentioned in the last preceding clause.

(3) On payment by the Society of all demands under the foregoing first clause, or in the discretion of the said Government of Bengal (on deposit by the Society of all estimated amounts as provided in the second clause) but not before possession shall have been taken under provisions of the abovementioned Act, the Secretary of State shall make over possession of the said land to the Society and shall execute and do all such acts and deeds as may be necessary and proper for effectually vesting the same in the Society.

(4) The said land shall be held by the Society for the purpose of such a hospital and laboratory for clinical teaching and research as is hereinbefore mentioned and without the sanction in writing of the said Government of Bengal first had and obtained for no other purpose whatsoever.

(5) The said hospital shall be completed (and fully equipped in all respects ready for use) within two years from the date on which possession of the said land shall have been given to the Society.

* Not printed herewith but may be inspected in the office of the Collector of the 24-Parganas.

(6) Should the said hospital not be completed (and fully equipped in all respects ready for use) within the period stated in the preceding clause or within such further period as in its discretion may be prescribed or allowed by the said Government of Bengal, or should the said land at any time thereafter cease for a period of twelve consecutive months to be held and used or cease to be required for the purpose or purposes provided for in the foregoing fourth clause, then and in any such case the said Government may summarily re-enter upon and take possession of the said land and thereupon the interest of the Society in the said land shall absolutely cease and determine.

(7) On taking such possession the said Government may sell or otherwise deal with the said land as it may think proper. Should the said Government sell the said land the said Government after deducting the expenses incurred in connection with the said taking of possession and with such sale shall pay the proceeds to the Society. Should the said Government on taking possession decide not to sell the land it shall repay to the Society all sums received from the Society in respect of all and every compensation as provided in the foregoing first clause (less the statutory allowance of 15 per cent.) but will not repay any sums paid and received on account of costs, charges and expenses.

(8) The public shall be entitled to use the hospital in accordance with the rules of the institution for the time being.

(9) The Society also agree to provide for the segregation of advanced cases in a manner to be approved from time to time by the Medical Department of the said Government, and in particular not to locate wards for such cases by the side of the public road.

(10) Should any dispute or difference arise touching or concerning the subject matter of this agreement or any covenant clause or thing herein contained the same shall be referred to the said Government of Bengal and the opinion and decision of the said Government upon such dispute or difference shall be final and conclusive and binding on the parties hereto.

In witness whereof the Calcutta Medical Aid and Research Society has caused its common seal to be affixed and the Secretary of State for India in Council hath hereunto set his hand and seal the day and year first above written.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

There are various Exchanges in the Northern part of Calcutta which have been started on the principle of the Bombay Cotton Exchange and the Liverpool Exchange. These Exchanges are controlled and supervised solely by Indians; and, in the Vernacular, these are called Baras.

Baras have been established for Jute, Hessian, Shares, Linseed and Cotton. Bona fide businessmen, hedgers, speculators and gamblers—a mixture of elements—deal at these Baras. No written contracts are made in connection with transactions in any of these Baras, though every transaction is entered in the books of the buyer and the seller and initialled by the opposite party. Each Saturday a rate is fixed on the basis of which differences are paid and received the following Monday and the contract continues at the rate fixed. This payment of differences each week end continues until the delivery date, when in the case of Hessian, Shares and Linseed the parties have a right to offer or demand delivery of goods and they often do so. In the case of Jute and Cotton the differences only are settled on the basis of the rate at due date.

It is very difficult for one not acquainted with the nature of the Baras to discriminate between a purely speculative and a "mixed" Bara. Two Baras in the past were raided by the Police. One, a Cotton Bara quite different from the two classes described above was purely a gambling house, whereas the Sugar Bara was of a mixed character, since deliveries used to be effected in it. Such raids upon a "mixed Bara," while they fail to stop gambling upset business very much. Bona fide firms purchased sugar in Java for shipment to India and sold the same at the Bara with a view to deliver the goods on arrival. But before they arrived the Bara was raided by the Police, thus upsetting the whole transactions with the result that the Importers incurred heavy losses. It is thus obvious that even a Bara where deliveries are effected are not above Police suspicion and are liable to raids.

It is sometimes asked why businessmen themselves cannot remove the defects from the Baras and make them bona fide business Exchanges. But this is not possible. Firstly, businessmen have no power to stop pure gambling Baras. Secondly, even in the mixed Baras there is always a certain element that if removed from one Bara will open another in the same commodity and thus the evil will still be in existence. Furthermore, while bona fide businessmen have always to deal in "mixed" Baras there is never any security in the business since even such Baras have been raided by the Police. Under the circumstances, suitable legislation is necessary in order that the gambling may be checked while business may not be hampered. Indian businessmen honestly want to stop all sorts of gambling in Burra Bazar but without Government co-operation it is impossible to do so.

There can be no doubt that gambling in Burra Bazar ought to be stopped as far possible, and after a careful investigation having been made it appears that it could be stopped to a considerable extent if every Bara is subjected to the following conditions:—

(1) That every Bara should be registered under the provisions of the Indian Companies' Act and its Articles of Association should be lodged with the Government.

(2) That written contracts be made of every transaction, the Form of such contract to be lodged with the Government.

(3) That the contract should confer a right on each party to offer or demand delivery of the goods—delivery to be in or in the vacinity of Calcutta in a manner recognised by the Trade.

(4) A minimum quantity should be fixed for each transaction.

(5) Hours during which business may be carried on at the Baras should be fixed.

These are the essential conditions for bona fide business but if necessary further conditions may be imposed.

The existing law is not quite suitable to achieve the desired result. To set the law in motion, a search warrant has to be issued, and it is usually issued on an ex parte application and therefore the Police have to seize all moneys, books of account, and whatever is kept at the Baras by persons dealing there and have to arrest all the people dealing there. There is no power in the Executive Government to get irregularities removed or to give notice to a Bara to abolish the same without upsetting a large number of transactions.

The Bill that has been drawn up is intended to systematise the entire course of transactions in perfect co-operation between the people and the Government.

PART IV.

Bills introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council, Report of Select Committees presented or to be presented to that Council, and Bills published before introduction in that Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 2320L., dated Calcutta, the 16th July, 1926.—The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Bill, 1926, with the Bill as amended by the Committee, is hereby published for general information :—

Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Bill, 1926.

We, the members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Bill, further to amend the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, beg to submit this our report with the Bill, as amended by us, annexed thereto.

The more important changes made in the Bill are as follows :—

Clause 3.—We consider that no notification excluding any municipal area from the operation of the Act should be issued without publishing it in the locality in accordance with rules framed by the Local Government and without the authority of the Bengal Legislative Council. A proviso to this effect has, therefore, been added to the proposed sub-section (3) of section 1 of the Act.

Clause 5—Sub-clause (aa).—A proviso has been added to the definition of "tenant" in clause (3) of section 3 of the Act in order to make it clear that adhiars, baryadars, and bhagchassis are not tenants within the meaning of the Act.

Clause 5—Sub-clause (a).—The amendment is consequential on the repeal of Chapter XII relating to distraint.

Clause 5—Sub-clause (b).—We have amended the definition of "holding" so as to extend it to undivided shares of a parcel or parcels of land because in numerous cases such undivided shares form separate tenancies and the failure of the law to recognise them as separate holdings has led to many practical difficulties.

Clause 5—Sub-clause (c).—The definition of "homestead" is, in our opinion, likely to create more litigation than it will prevent ; and we do not think that its omission will cause any practical difficulty. This sub-clause has, therefore, been omitted.

Clause 5—Sub-clause (e).—This sub-clause has been amended so as to give a longer and a definite period for the rearrangements consequent on the change in the agricultural year where such a change will take place.

Clause 6.—For reasons mentioned under clauses 26-28 below we do not recommend that under-raiyats should be given occupancy-rights. The clause has, therefore, been omitted.

Clause 7.—For the same reason we have omitted sub-clauses (b) and (c). We have, however, substituted the words "servants or labourers" for the words "hired servants" in the definition of raiyat as they appear to be more suitable.

Clause 9.—In our opinion there is no sufficient justification for the change of procedure proposed in this clause for the collection of landlords' fees on transfers of tenures. The change would lead to a large amount of unnecessary litigation and trouble to both landlords and tenants which is avoided by the present procedure. Nor do we consider that there is sufficient justification for the extra penalty provided in the proposed section 13 A in clause 9 of the Bill in the case of a person, succeeding to a tenure, failing to give the requisite notice to the landlord. The clause has, therefore, been omitted, and the original sections in the Act retained. A provision has, however, been inserted by which the Local Government can, if it thinks fit, prescribe that the payment of landlords' fees should be made in stamps. A verbal omission has also been remedied.

Clause 9 A.—These slight changes will bring the wording into line with that adopted later, in the case of transferability of occupancy holdings.

Clause 10.—The change is consequential.

Clause 11.—The change proposed remedies an obvious omission.

Clause 12.—Under the ordinary law a tenant, whatever his status, is liable to ejectment if he uses the land comprised in his holding in a manner which renders it unfit for the purposes of the tenancy. We consider that this should be made clear in the law in the case of a raiyat at fixed rates. The clause has been changed accordingly.

Clause 15.—We recommend that this clause should be amended so as to provide that all the unclaimed landlords' fees may be forfeited to Government after a period of ten years instead of five years and then handed over to the District Boards, as we consider that more funds should be placed at their credit and that lapsed landlords' fees raised in the district would form a suitable source of revenue. We also recommend that if for introducing the above change any sanction is necessary from the Governor that necessary steps should be taken for obtaining such sanction.

Clause 16.—The amendments are mainly formal.

Clause 17.—As we consider that occupancy rights should not be given to under-raiyats, a great deal of the original clause has been omitted. We are also of opinion that the position of a co-sharer landlord, when he acquires a raiyati holding, should not be worse than that of a third person acquiring such holding. We have accordingly revised this section so as to make it clear that a co-sharer-landlord can acquire occupancy rights in any raiyati holding on his own property which he acquires in any way whatsoever (other than at a rent-sale ; vide note to clause 97).

Clause 19.—This clause in the Bill embodies, in our opinion, an unsatisfactory solution of the problem regarding trees, in that it will give rise to litigation on both the value and class of a tree. We would prefer to legislate on the lines of a compromise between the demands of the raiyats and the claims of the landlords. In our opinion the landlord should have full rights in a limited number of existing trees valuable for their timber which should be specifically mentioned in the Act. All other trees including all trees which grow or are planted in the future would be at the absolute disposal of the raiyat. The clause has been redrafted accordingly.

Clause 20.—We have made several important changes in this clause. In the first place, the procedure proposed for the recovery of the landlords' fee on transfers as an arrear of rent will lead to an unnecessary amount of trouble and litigation which can be avoided by the adoption of the procedure, already in the Act, for the deposit of landlords' fees in the case of transfers of tenures ; and we have come to the conclusion, after considering other alternatives, that that procedure is the most convenient for both landlords and tenants. In the second place, the provisions in the Bill, for references to the Civil Court to determine the proper market value of the transferred property in order that the landlord may obtain the fee on transfer to which he is properly entitled, will involve still more litigation, and we are satisfied that the provisions of section 26 G, under which the landlord can purchase the property himself, will form a sufficient deterrent against any underestimation of the value of the property. We have, therefore, remodelled the clause on the lines of the procedure in force in the case of transfers of tenures, removed the facilities for litigation given by the proposed procedure for the realisation of the fees and for the determination of the proper value of the property and have made the value of the property, as set forth in the instrument of transfer, the basis of the fee payable to the landlord, without disturbing the rent-basis for the fee. We have also made the following changes :—

Section 26 A.—In order to allow sufficient time for the necessary arrangements to be made in the registration and collectorate offices and for budget provision to be obtained for the same, consequent on the proposals in these sections, a definite date of the 1st of July, 1928, has been inserted in this section as the date on which it will come into effect.

Section 26 C.—We consider that all sums, which the transferee has paid, or agreed to pay as rent, or on account of a mortgage, should be entered in the instrument of transfer and should, as set forth in such instrument, be deemed to be the consideration-money, or part thereof. Sub-section (3) of section 26 K of the Bill has, therefore, been redrafted and inserted as sub-section (6) of this section.

Section 26 D.—We consider that in the case of transfer by gift, an appropriate basis for the landlord's transfer fee, consistent with our other proposals, is the value of the property as set forth in the instrument of transfer, and in the case of bequest, the value as determined by the Court for the purposes of stamp duty for the grant of probate or letters of administration. In the case of exchange, half the landlord's fee payable by either party to the transaction is in our opinion sufficient. In order to avoid complications we have also provided that in the case of the transfer of a portion or share of a holding the rent, for the purpose of ascertaining the transfer fee, shall be deemed to be that sum which bears the same proportion to the rent of the whole holding as the area or share transferred bears to that of the entire holding. We also consider that in the case of a bequest or gift to a near relation no transfer fee should be payable. This section has been redrafted accordingly.

Section 26 E.—In consequence of our proposals this section has been omitted.

Section 26 F.—The amendments are consequential.

Section 26 G.—The provisions of the Bill applicable to co-sharer landlords in the excepted cases mentioned in section 188 appear to us to be preferable to those adopted in this section in the case of co-sharer landlords. A change has also been made so as to make it clear that a landlord obtains property under this section free from all incumbrances which are discharged after the date of the transfer. The other changes are consequential.

Section 26 H.—In view of our proposals regarding under-raiyats (vide note on clauses 26-28) this section is, in our opinion, unnecessary and has been deleted.

Section 26 I.—We consider that in order to enable raiyats to take larger loans the maximum period for usufructuary mortgages should be extended from 9 to 15 years and that the mortgagor should be allowed to redeem within this period. Provisions have been made accordingly.

Section 26 J.—In our opinion, there is no such legal entity as a rent-free holding and such holdings are properly speaking rent-free tenures. This section has, therefore, been omitted.

Section 26 K.—The amendments are consequential.

Section 26 KK.—This is a new section enabling a landlord to recover the full landlord's transfer fee with compensation or to apply for the purchase of the holding, when an occupancy holding has been transferred either as a raiyati holding at fixed rates or as a tenure. We consider it necessary to make provision for such cases.

Clause 21 A.—The amendment is consequential on the repeal of section 40.

Clause 22.—We consider that it would be more equitable to provide that the rent of an occupancy-raiyat should be liable to reduction if the landlord has refused or neglected to carry out the arrangements regarding irrigation, etc., and if the soil of the holding has thereby deteriorated. Sub-clause (ii) has been redrafted accordingly.

Clause 23.—We recommend that both the revised section 40 regarding commutation in the Bill, and the original section 40 in the Act be omitted, in view of the strong opposition there is in the country to the commutation of rent payable in kind.

Clause 23 A—Is consequential on clause 23.

Clauses 26, 27, 28 and 28 A.—We do not feel justified in changing the present law having regard to the strong public opposition there is to the proposal. The question of granting occupancy-rights to under-raiyats generally gave rise to so many difficulties that we have thought it proper to leave it for the present. At the same time an under-raiyat who has held his holding for 20 years and has his homestead thereon is in our opinion entitled to protection against eviction except on the ground that he has failed to pay the arrears of rent or on the usual grounds on which an occupancy-raiyat can be ejected. The status of an under-raiyat acquiring occupancy-rights by custom and the incidents of their tenancy have, however, been defined by us. The Bill, as amended, also provides for the enhancement of rent of an under-raiyat through the Civil Courts. It also provides that the holdings of under-raiyats shall be heritable.

Clause 30.—We have made the following changes in this clause :—

(1) Provision has been made for the payment of rent by the tenant before it is actually due, if he so desires.

(2) The section has been redrafted so as to show definitely in what different ways a tenant can pay or tender his rent.

(3) Provision has been made that a certificate from the post office of the refusal by the landlord to receive the rent will be presumptive evidence of a tender. We do not consider that the postal receipt, as proposed in the Bill, can be accepted as such evidence inasmuch as it does not imply that the money has been tendered to the landlord.

(4) Government authority for a tenant to pay his rent by postal money-order is unnecessary and has been removed.

(5) Provision has been made that the acceptance of rent shall not amount to a waiver of the landlord's rights under the clauses relating to the transferability of occupancy holdings.

Clause 31.—As this is a penal provision, we consider it undesirable to extend the period within which action can be taken on the failure of the landlord to grant proper rent receipts. Sub-clause (a) has, therefore, been omitted.

Clause 32.—An obvious omission has been supplied.

Clause 33.—We consider that the notice in case (c) should be posted both at the landlord's village office and in some conspicuous place in the village.

Clause 36.—The omission of this clause is consequential on the decision not to allow a right of occupancy to under-raiyats.

Clause 38.—It is unlikely, in our opinion, that the imposition of a higher rate of interest than the Court rate of interest after the institution of the suit will result in suits being accelerated. This clause has, therefore, been omitted.

Clause 39.—Clause (ii) of the proposed proviso has been amended consequentially upon the amendment of clause 38.

Clause 41.—We have amended section 73 of the Act so as to make it clear that in the case of a transfer of an occupancy holding, under the provisions of the Bill, both the transferor and the transferee will be jointly and severally liable for the arrears of rent due up to the date of the transfer.

Clause 43.—The omission is consequential on the insertion of a new clause in section 76 and the repeal of section 79.

Clause 44.—Owing to the popular demand for these concessions we have made the following modifications in this clause :—

(i) A tenant will be allowed to construct wells, tanks, water-channels, etc., for the purpose of providing drinking-water for himself ;

(ii) he will be allowed to erect dwelling-houses, whether of masonry, bricks, stone, or any other material whatsoever.

Clause 45.—We consider that this clause should apply to all classes of raiyats and under-raiyats. It has been redrafted accordingly.

Clause 46 A.—Section 79 of the Act should be repealed as a consequential amendment.

Clause 47.—Sub-clause (b) has been omitted consequentially on our opinion that occupancy-rights should not be given to under-raiyats.

Clause 48.—This clause has been amalgamated with clause 46 and the reference to section 86 relating to surrender has been omitted as in view of the limited rights given to an under-raiyat, we do not consider it necessary to impose upon him the further obligations laid down in that section.

Clause 49.—This clause has been omitted as a consequential amendment.

Clause 50.—We have omitted this clause in consequence of our recommendations regarding under-raiyats.

Clause 50 A.—We are of opinion that when an under-raiyat has acquired occupancy-rights by custom his consent should be taken before the surrender of the holding of the raiyat. Provision has been made accordingly.

Clause 51.—Inasmuch as an abatement of rent does not necessarily imply a permanent reduction, we do not think that a tenant can be said to have surrendered his rights on obtaining an abatement and we have, therefore, omitted clause (ii) of sub-section (1) and sub-section (2) of the proposed new section 86 A.

Clauses 52 and 53.—Clause 53 and parts of clause 52 have been omitted consequentially on our proposals not to confer occupancy-rights on under-raiyats; but we have inserted a new provision in section 87 for the protection of under-raiyats who have occupancy rights by custom. We consider a period of 2 months is a reasonable period for exercising the option by the tenant and have specifically mentioned it in this clause.

Clause 54.—Owing to mention of the word "partition" in section 26 K, we have inserted this word in section 88 and made the consequential changes.

Clause 55.—This clause should be omitted as, in our opinion, it relates to matters which do not fall properly within the scope of the Act.

Clause 56.—The conditions under which a common manager can be appointed under the present Act are such that it is only very rarely that a common manager can be appointed. We have accordingly removed these conditions and substituted the criteria of justice and convenience. At the same time we consider that landlords, as well as tenants, should, if put to inconvenience and harassment in the payment or receipt of rent, be able to apply for the appointment of a common manager when there is a large number of co-sharer landlords. The clause has been amended accordingly.

Clauses 57 and 58.—In view of the reasons given by the High Court against the change proposed in the Bill transferring the appointment of a common manager from the District Judge to the Collector, these clauses have been omitted.

Clause 59.—For the same reason sub-clause (a) of this clause has been deleted.

Clause 60.—The appointment of a common agent is in the interests of the co-sharers themselves and with the change in the procedure regarding the realisation of landlord's fees, the necessity for the compulsory appointment of a common agent on the application of the tenants under sub-section (2) of the proposed section 99A and for the penalty in sub-section (5) disappears. Further legislation is neither necessary nor desirable to enable such agents to collect rents. On the other hand, it would be convenient if such persons were enabled to collect rents deposited in the Civil Court and a legal register of such persons was maintained by the Collector. The clause has, therefore, been redrafted on these lines. When the statutory rules regarding landlord's fees come to be drafted, we suggest that it should be provided that the landlord's fee should not be paid to any common agent unless he produces the landlord's authority and is duly identified.

Clause 61.—This clause has been omitted as a consequential amendment.

Clause 62.—The omission of sub-clause (iii) is consequential.

Clause 63.—The amendment in sub-clause (i) is consequential. In sub-clause (ii) an addition has been made to provide that the incidents and conditions appertaining to the rights over fisheries, etc., may be entered in the record-of-rights.

Clause 68.—We consider that the party raising one or more of the issues set forth in section 105 A should pay in respect of each tenancy the Court-fees payable by an applicant under section 105. We recommend that, if the Governor's sanction is necessary for our proposals, steps should be taken to obtain it.

Section 105 C.—This section has been omitted as, in our opinion, the question of costs should be governed by the ordinary law.

Clause 70 A.—The amendments are formal.

Clause 74.—The change in sub-clause (1) is consequential. In our opinion, an order of refusal to exercise powers of revision or correction should be appealable like an ordinary order. Sub-clause (3) has been changed accordingly, but we have retained the provision that no appeal relating to orders under section 113 B, so far it relates to proceedings under Part II of Chapter X, should lie to the Special Judge.

Clause 77.—The changes are consequential.

Clause 81.—This has been omitted as a consequential amendment.

Clause 83.—A slight verbal change has been made.

Clause 86.—A verbal amendment has been made.

Clause 86 A.—In our opinion the necessity for a fresh petition for permission or affidavit for the purpose of verification of pleadings in the case of a recognised agent of the landlord under section 145 of the Act involves needless expense. A new clause has accordingly been inserted doing away with such necessity.

Clause 87.—This clause provides, inter alia, facilities for landlords to sue the representative tenants of holdings instead of the entire body of tenants, and representative tenants for this purpose have been defined. We have made the following modifications :—

(1) The words " are resident " in clause (i) of sub-section (3) of the proposed section 146 A are vague and likely to give rise to litigation ; we have substituted the words " whose homesteads are situated ".

(2) The procedure for the registration of a co-sharer tenant's name through the Collector is, in our opinion, undesirable and likely to lead to complications. Proposed sub-section (4) of the proposed section 146 A has, therefore, been deleted and provision made that representative tenants should include all other co-sharer tenants in the tenure or holding whose names are entered in the landlord's rent-roll.

Clause 88.—The omission of the proviso originally proposed is consequential ; we have substituted a proviso arising out of the new section 148 A.

Clause 90.—The object of the amendments made in section 148 of the Act by this clause has been to simplify and cheapen judicial procedure.

We consider, however, that further simplifications are feasible and we have accordingly made the following additions and modifications :—

(1) The provision for a summons containing a concise statement of the facts alleged in the plaint proposed by the Committee, which originally sat to consider the amendments necessary in the Bengal Tenancy Act and on whose conclusions the present Bill is based, has been reproduced. In our opinion a simple form of statement can be devised for rent-suits which will give all the material facts and will present no difficulty in preparation.

(2) We are definitely of opinion that the present procedure for the employment of an identifier by the plaintiff when a summons is served is expensive, inefficient, and leads to a large number of false affidavits of service. We have, therefore, inserted a provision doing away with the necessity for an identifier and substituting service of summonses in the presence of witnesses.

) Sub-clause (7) of the clause has been omitted as throwing an unnecessary burden of work on the Court.

(4) Under sub-clause (9) of this clause, the Court can dispense with oral evidence and take an affidavit instead for use in one or more cases. We would, however, go further for in ex parte cases, if oral evidence can be dispensed with, so can the use of an affidavit, and we agree with the conclusions in the report of the Civil Justice Committee, 1924-25 (page 14), that there are cases in which a special summons can safely be issued stating that a decree will be passed in default of appearance in answer thereto. In rent-suits these cases are, in our opinion, those in which the claim for rent is supported by a registered lease, or by an entry in the record-of-rights or by a valid decree which has been passed for the same annual rent previously. In place, therefore, of sub-clause (h), a draft on the lines recommended by the Civil Justice Committee and restricted to these particular cases has been inserted in the Bill.

(5) In order to save costs in execution cases it has been provided by the new sub-clause (11) that it is unnecessary for the decree-holder to file a copy of a decree or fresh vakalatnama for the purpose of executing the decree.

Clause 91.—A proviso has been added to sub-section (4) of the proposed section 148 A to deal with the transfer to competent Courts of suits for consolidation and trial. We have also provided that the summonses should be served against all the co-sharer landlords before they are served against the tenant-defendant. An addition has been made in sub-section (7) (d) to meet cases where the money has to be kept in Court on account of an attachment order. Several drafting changes have been made.

Clause 92.—In our opinion the facilities for appeals should not be restricted, but should, if anything, be extended. The original clauses (a) and (b) of section 153 of the Act have, therefore, been restored and provision has also been made for an appeal when the question of the relationship of landlord and tenant has been raised and decided.

Clause 94.—The changes in this clause are similar to the changes already made in clause (b) of section 102.

Clause 95.—It has been made clear by us that Government should consider how the landlord maintains his copy of the record-of-rights and other records before granting the privilege of the certificate procedure ; and that Government should continue to see that they are properly maintained whilst the certificate procedure is in force.

Clause 96 —This clause has been redrafted to make the meaning clear.

Clause 97.—The change already proposed by us in section 22 would mean that co-sharer landlords could acquire occupancy rights in holdings under them purchased by them at rent-sales. We do not however propose that any such change should be made in the law in respect of purchases at rent-sales, but that on purchase of a holding by a joint or co-sharer landlord the tenancy should merge in the superior right. The necessary proviso has therefore been inserted in this clause.

Clause 102.—It appears to be more suitable for the Court or the officer dealing with the execution case than for the Collector to serve notices on incumbrancers. An amendment has, therefore, been made to this effect.

Clause 103.—An addition has been made similar to that made in sub-section (7) of section 148 A.

Clause 104.—We are not aware of any valid reason why any person, whose interests are affected by the sale, should not be allowed to pay money into Court in order to avoid a sale in execution of a rent-decree, provided that, unless his interests are voidable on the sale, he is not given the privileges conferred by section 171. An addition has accordingly been made to this clause.

Clause 104 A.—We consider that an inferior tenant paying money into Court to set aside a sale should also be allowed to deduct the same from the rent payable to his immediate landlord and have provided accordingly.

Clause 105.—We have made an amendment providing for an appeal against an order setting aside or refusing to set aside a sale subject to the condition that, in the case of a judgment-debtor who has not deposited the decretal amount, it should be deposited before the appeal is entertained.

Clause 108.—The following changes have been made :—

(1) A necessary change has been made in clause (e) of sub-section (1) of section 178.

(2) Clause (f), sub-section (1), of section 178 has been modified so as to follow our proposals regarding under-raiyats.

(3) The words "occupancy under-raiyats" have been omitted.

(4) Clause (g) of sub-section (3) has been omitted consequentially on the repeal of section 40.

Clause 110.—The section regarding rights in homesteads has been redrafted so as to bring out its meaning more clearly. We have, however, changed the proposed proviso, because it would deprive those raiyats, who immigrate and actually do, we understand, take up land for their homesteads before proceeding to take up land for cultivation, of raiyati rights in their homesteads.

Clause 113.—In our opinion, there is no necessity for any distinction between sub-clauses (a) and (b) in the clause. We have, therefore, brought all the excepted cases under one class. An addition has been made to provide for the case of co-sharer landlords acting under proposed section 26 G in conformity with that section.

Clause 114 A.—This amendment is consequential.

Clause 119 A.—An addition has been made to provide for a period of limitation in the case of the new sub-clause (cc) of section 44 of the Act.

Clause 120.—It appears to us that it is to the advantage of the tenant who pays a produce rent that the period of limitation should be retained at three years. Sub-clause (b) has, therefore, been omitted.

Clause 121.—This has been omitted as a consequential amendment.

We consider that the alterations we have made in the Bill necessitate its republication.

Joint minute of dissent by the Hon'ble Maharaja Kshaunish Chandra Ray Bahadur of Nadia, Messrs. M. C. McAlpin, C.I.E., W. S. Hopkyns, O.B.E., and Khan Bahadur M. A. Mumin.

The important feature of the modifications made by the Select Committee is that they have rejected the main object of the Bill of preventing the non-agriculturist from debarring the actual cultivator from acquiring substantial rights in the soil. This object was carried into effect in the Bill by the conferment of occupancy-rights on under-raiyats. One reason for the adoption of this proposal was the outcome of another important proposal in the Bill to make raiyati holdings legally transferable. For, in that event, raiyati holdings would be more frequently transferred to non-agriculturists with the inevitable result that their tenants, the actual cultivators, would obtain practically no rights in the soil as under-raiyats, unless the law were changed. The Select Committee have, however, refused to confer occupancy-rights on under-raiyats, or to grant in lieu thereof any substantial rights to them. Moreover, the Committee have gone further and have removed from the original Bengal Tenancy Act (as well as from the Bill) the present provisions, except so far as rent-sales are concerned, which prevent a co-sharer landlord from becoming a raiyat on his own property; and they have inserted a provision in the Bill which bars all produce-payers, who are called adhiars, etc., from obtaining any rights as tenants. These recommendations, if carried into effect, would defeat the object of the Bill. They mean that the non-agriculturist community will be able to purchase raiyati holdings freely under the assurance that they need never cultivate the land themselves; that if the actual cultivator delivers part of the produce to them, he will be a labourer without any rights, and if he pays a money rent he will be an under-raiyat with practically no rights under the Act. We regard such a departure from the principles underlying the tenancy law in the province as a matter of grave importance; and, in any event, we consider that it is only on condition that the actual cultivator obtains substantial rights in the soil that raiyati holdings can be made legally transferable.

Minute of dissent by Sir P. C. Mitter, M.L.C.

I sign the report with this note of dissent as a matter of form as my objections to the Bill are fundamental. I am opposed to this piece-meal legislation by amending an antiquated Act.

I refrain from entering into a detailed consideration of the various clauses of the Bill. In the interest of the landlord as also in the wider interest of the public in general affected by the Bill, I refrain from discussing controversial points at this stage. Unfortunately Government views have been dominated by particular ideas, and from experience I find that the landlords have not much chance of getting justice done to their legitimate interests by the Government. Under the circumstances, they have to depend largely on the good sense of the representatives of other interests, and it will, therefore, be undesirable to raise controversial topics. There is a further and a very important reason for this decision on my part. My objections to the Bill, as I have said, are fundamental. I am opposed to piece-meal legislation of the kind attempted in this Bill. In my opinion it was a serious mistake to attempt to amend this antiquated measure. The Bengal Tenancy Act of 1885 is based on the report of the Rent Law Commission. The Rent Law Commissioners had to consider agragarian questions as it affected rural Bengal in the seventies of the last century. More than 50 years have elapsed and many difficult problems not in existence then have to be dealt with now. The Act of 1885 is not a complete code, and experience in its working shows that there are grave defects which cannot be met by tinkering legislation. Incomplete and unsatistactory as the code was, it was amended several times. These amendments, the original incomplete nature of the Act, judicial interpretations put on various sections of the Act have all contributed to difficultios of interpretation and administration of the Act. Two important problems are present to-day which were not before the Rent Law Commissioners—one is great increase in litigation and the other is enormous increase in subinfeudation. About 54 per cent. of Bengal's litigation is in rent suits, 37 per cent. in money suits (which in most cases are deferred rent suits, because they are based on kistibandis for arrears of rent). Practically therefore 91 per cent. of Bengal's litigation is based on rent realisations. The income of the Government of Bengal from court-fees and other litigation charges is therefore necessarily high. This court-fee income of Government is contributed by the landlords and tenants, the bulk of whom are poor. Apart from paying court-fees and other Government dues landlords and tenants have to pay their lawyer's fees and other incidental expenses. Litigation therefore is sapping the wealth of the community at its root. The question of subinfeudation has become really serious and is increasing daily. It is well known that there are localities where 20 or 25 degrees of people have interest in the same plot of land. Agriculture can never thrive under such conditions and the economic condition of the people is rapidly deteriorating, as many of these tenures have become uneconomic properties. The provisions of the original Bill and to a large extent the provisions of the Bill as passed by the majority of the Select Committee will increase sub-infeudation. This is a problem which cannot be dealt with by an amending Act. There are various other problems which cannot be dealt with by an amending Act. The questions affecting co-sharer landlords and co-sharer tenure-holders of various degrees as also co-sharers' properties becoming uneconomic due to the increase in the number of co-sharers also require separate and careful treatment, and cannot be adequately provided by amending the cumbersome procedure obtaining in the present Act. I refrain from multiplying instances, but what I have already stated is enough to justify my conclusion that a complete code and not a tinkering legislation will meet the situation. I also apprehend that class warfare will be a feature of the future unless we try to mitigate the real causes of clashing of class interests. That cannot be done by a tinkering amending measure. Class warfare will not only be a serious menace to nationalism, but the economic losses resulting therefrom will also be disastrous. The complete code, which, I contemplate, should deal justly with the rights of the raiyats, tenure-holders and zemindars, and will try to ensure, so far as it is humanly possible, justice to the conflicting interests of the various classes with the minimum of litigation. This can only be done by wide and fundamental departure from the present system which I refrain from elaborating as such elaboration will not be pertinent to this note of dissent. The provisions of the complete code that I suggest should also have in view the economic well-being of the various classes, and decrease of litigation. In my opinion the time is long overdue, when problems affecting the raiyats, tenure-holders and zemindars, who represent more than 90 per cent. of the population of Bengal, should be independently examined by a body of expert Rent Law Commissioners. The majority of members of this commission should be persons who by their position, knowledge and character could be expected to discharge their quasi-judicial duties without fear or favour. The Rent Law Commissioners should not be selected from political considerations. The kind of committee presided over by Sir John Kerr, and which was responsible for the first draft will not do. What is really wanted is a committee of experts in legal matters, in questions of land, tenures and in economic questions generally. Persons who gather all their knowledge from settlement operations can at the most be consonant with details, and cannot be expected to take a wide grasp and statesmanlike view of vital questions. Further the committee should be a small one in which the Executive Government should have at that stage very little representation. It will be wise to restrict the strength of the committee to five certainly not more than seven. A retired or sitting Judge of the High Court should be a member of commission. Persons who have studied rural economic problems, who have real knowledge of the difficulties of all classes interested in agricultural land, should have seats on the commission. It is not necessary to pursue the point further except to emphasise that the quasi-judicial character of the committee should be maintained, and the personnel should be such that the commissioners can be expected to take a statesmanlike view of the future. After the commissioners have reported their report should be published and should be examined by the Government and the public, and the Bill for a complete code should then be drafted. This commission should be appointed as early as possible.

Minute of dissent by Raja Manmatha Nath Ray Chaudhuri of Santosh.

On principle I am opposed to the Bill. I hold that some of its provisions, if given effect to, will infringe upon the fundamental rights, which serves as the ground work of the zemindari system, in Bengal. I maintain that it is wholly wrong to break, by any subsequent legislation, or otherwise encroach upon, any vital tenet or term of an agreement or covenant, made binding by law, on the state and any other party or parties with regard to properties in which hereditary and vested rights and interests are involved. I firmly believe that the right of transfer and the right to trees are substantial rights of soil and it has always been maintained that the zemindars had, by tenure, a property in the soil. This was rightly established by Sir John Shore in his famous minute, which followed the Act of Parliament of 1784, passed for the better regulation and management of the affairs of the East India Company. The Act directed an enquiry into, and eventual redress of, the grievances of many landholders within the British territories in India, who were unjustly deprived of their legitimate rights and privileges and compelled, in some cases, to abandon their lands. Sir John Shore collected a vast body of information and he adduced the universal testimony of the people and the proverbial expression, that the lands belong to the zemindars and the rent to the King. In pre-British days, the zemindars possessed not only the rights of malikana but also what may be called sovereign-rights, within their respective jurisdictions as they collected not only revenue but also internal duties, etc. Many ordinances of Emperors and recognised practices of the Mogul Government prove the basic truth of this assertion. The zemindars of to-day, however, do not want to go so far and they will rest contented if such of their primary rights, as were recognised by the Permanent Settlement, are not further disturbed. I use the word "further" because of the Act X of 1859 and the Tenancy Act of 1885. The present Bill, if it is passed with the two provisions I have complained of, will virtually lay the foundation of what I may call, "agrarian socialism" and help the so-called friends of the raiyats to put into their mouth the slogan, "Land for the tillers alone". Such steps will lead to revolution and not reform. I think it is a shortsighted policy to undermine the Permanent Settlement, however gradual and imperceptible the process adopted may be. It has undoubtedly proved to be a strong pillar of the Government, constituted by law, in this country and a source of unmixed blessings alike to the zemindars and the raiyats of Bengal. The State and the patriot must recognise the cardinal truth that the progress and prosperity of the zemindars and the raiyats are relative and interdependent. The real and lasting benefit, both political and economic, to the State, or to the country, as a whole, can only accrue from the homogeneous and simultaneous advancement of the two classes, as integral components of the whole community. It is, therefore, certainly disquieting that the policy of the State, as represented by the Tenancy Act and for the matter of that, the present Bill, is to enlarge the rights and privileges of the raiyats, not only without corresponding benefits to the zemindars, but also at their bitter cost and expense.

Then again, by conferring the right of transferribility on the raiyat, he is being given unrestricted freedom to do whatever he likes with his lands—a liberty which has every chance of being misused. It may occasion the passing of agricultural holding from the hands of the raiyats to the hands of the money-lenders and other rich non-agriculturists of the province, or even foreign capitalists. That fact, that the Government are quite mindful of this side of the question in other provinces, where special land alineation Act has been provided for, does not justify a different attitude, on its part, in Bengal, where the chief, if not actually the only, means of subsistence of the people is agriculture.

Besides, apart from the question of policy, which in public interest, should always be for the preservation of valuable trees, which attract rain and supply fruits, the raiyats, if it is made easy for them to fell such trees, will ultimately suffer along with the zemindars; for, by indiscriminately cutting down trees for fuel or ready money to meet their wants or even extravagance, without toil and labour, they are sure to cause serious depreciation in the value of their holdings.

For above and also other vital reasons, the Bill, in my opinion, should be dropped altogether. The Government will be well advised to have recourse to piecemeal legislations, to get rid of such defects in the Tenancy Act as may prove puzzling or embarrassing to the civil courts, in disposing of cases, which crop up under the Act. That will decidedly be a better course to adopt than to undertake to introduce wholesale or sweeping changes to revolutionise the existing order of things.

As I have every reason to hope that good sense will prevail and the Bill will be dropped once for all, I do not propose to enter into minute details. More so, as it must be admitted that apart from the question of basic principles of rights, the decisions of the Select Committee, in most cases, are not on the whole unfair. I should add that clause 44 has been amended by the committee fully in favour of the raiyats. At any rate, there should be a provision to the effect that where the prevailing custom is for the raiyats to pay nazar to the zemindars for obtaining permission to construct wells, tanks or pucca buildings, etc., it will be recognized by law. It should also be mentioned that the decisions of the committee with regard to judicial procedure were not quite up to the mark and should be improved. It is notorious that the procedure at present followed in disposing of rent suits is extremely dilatory and expensive. Further provisions should be made for speedy realization of fair and equitable rent. As one of the remedies, the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act of 1913 should be so amended as to bring all estates, which are not under the Court of Wards, on the same level with those which are managed by the Court of Wards, in respect of all facilities enjoyed by the latter, in the shape of summary procedure for the recovery of the arrears of rent. No benefit, whatsoever, accrues from what is known as the certificate procedure, so far as landlords who manage their own estates, are concerned. This invidious distinction should be done away with. In this connection, one must disapprove of the Bill clause 85, as it virtually abolishes the whole Chapter XII on distraint, without at the same time providing any adequate means of realizing rent.

I am also opposed to the proviso, under clause 28, which gives occupancy-right to an under-raiyat, under certain circumstances. It appears to me to be wholly inequitable. On principle, an under-raiyat can, under no circumstances, have occupancy-right, as he has no title or claim, either by purchase or inheritance, to such a right. His status is well defined and his existence carefully circumscribed by a terminable lease, which is absolutely binding on him.

Minute of dissent by Rai Satyendra Nath Roy Chowdhury Bahadur, M.L.C.

Clause 12 —I cannot agree with the proposal of giving right of occupancy to the raiyats holding at fixed rents or rate of rent or making them settled raiyats of the village. The status of this class of raiyats is apparently higher than the status of ordinary raiyats having right of occupancy or settled raiyats. Their rents cannot be enhanced and they are entitled to free transfer of their lands. They are in most cases created and controlled by contract, and their incidents to a great extent resemble those of tenures. Under section 160 they have been given now limited protection. Even if they are made settled raiyats, they should not be given the limited protection as proposed in clause (2) of section 160. This will lead to abuse and open the gate of fraud. Tenure-holders with an intent to defraud their superior landlords will create such rights taking high salami at a very nominal profit and then allow the tenure to be sold. Enhancement of rent or determination of fair and equitable rent is an illusory proposition under the Bengal Tenancy Act. So the superior landlords will suffer a heavy loss.

2. Clause 19—proposed section 23 A.—I cannot approve the sweeping and radical change proposed to be made in the proposed section 23 A, with regard to trees and I think a safe-guard should be provided in this section against unnecessary and intentional waste. A tenant should not be allowed to cut down trees of a holding in such a manner as to materially impair the value of the holding. This they will invariably do before leaving their holdings when various circumstances may compell them to abandon their holding.

3. The right to trees belongs to the landlords; the proposal now made, is a great infringement upon that right or practically taking it away. True it is that it is a great hardship upon the tenants if they cannot utilise any tree without the consent of the landlords at times when they require it for reasonable purposes. The right enjoyed by the landlords for such a length of time should not be so highly taken away specially without any consideration. I am therefore of opinion that the proposal made in the original Bill with a little modification as to future trees should be adopted. Even in the Madras Rent Act, custom has not been ignored.

4. Legislators ought to have due regard and consideration for the rights of all parties under the existing law while enacting an amending law As to palm trees it should apply to whole Bengal.

5. In the Bill right of transferability has been conferred upon occupancy raiyats under certain conditions and this has been advocated on the fact that within a short time the number of transfers have increased many times. Under the existing law the right of occupancy is transferable only with the consent of the landlord, and without it it is valid only when there is custom or usage, in all other cases it is non-transferable. The very fact that we want to confer this right by legislation under certain conditions clearly shows that there is no such custom or usage and in fact the rapid increase in their numbers does not prove any growing custom, on the contrary it shows that the land value is increasing and people are making such purchases subject to grant risks which they obviate by payment to the landlords; thus both the vendors and vendees set a value for the consent which goes to make up the total net price of the land. By the present legislation we want to legalise certain illegal transactions or validate certain voidable transactions. The question therefore is—Are we justified to do so, if so, under what condition?

6. The right to the lands belongs to the proprietors and by their grant to the tenure-holders. The question arose when Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, was passed and almost all the eminent jurists including the benevolent Viceroy himself and High Court Judges agreed that if not from before at least from the time of permanent settlement the lands belonged to the zemindars and the occupancy right is non-transferable. This view has been repeated in judicial decisions. I need not repeat and quote extracts from the minutes and writings of eminent Judges, jurists and writers on Indian Constitutional Law. They will be found in sufficient numbers in the able note of dissent of late Rai Surendra Chandra Sen Bahadur and in the opinions forwarded to the Government and published with the Bill by some big zemindars, such as Maharaja Sashi Kanta Acharjya and Maharaja of Susang and Maharaja Manindra Chandra Nandy, and in the opinions forwarded by some land-holders' associations. It is settled law now of the land for over hundred years that the right to land belongs to the landlords, and that the occupancy right is non-transferable. To confer right of transferability to occupancy raiyats is practically to take away this right of the landlords—if so, under what circumstances we are justified in doing so—my first submission is that no such strong case has been made out to disturb the present law which is working smoothly. My second contention is that no case whatsoever has been made out to standardise the money value of the landlords' consent that would be a clear invasion upon a settled right which they are enjoying for upwards a century after spending a good deal for the reclamation and improvements of the lands in the inception of their right. It would not be fair and equitable to curtail their right which they acquired for a valuable consideration. Even if we do so, there should be adequate compensation, which, if we settle once for all, should be at least one-third of the net value of the land.

7. I cannot advocate the provisions made in the Bill on this subject wholly. I object on a stronger ground; I believe that by the present legislation, the peasantry of Bengal will, within a short time, be converted into landless labourers, and the lands will pass on to the hands of foreign capitalists and joint stock companies; the conversion of a multitude of peaceful agricultural population of Bengal into discontented needy labourers will, I apprehend, materially affect the economic and political condition of the Province. To counteract this evil the Orissa Tenancy Act, Punjab Tenancy Act and the more recent Central Provinces Tenancy Act have made distinct provisions. Pre-emption and post-emption both have been provided in the Central Provinces Act. Something on this line is necessary in Bengal to provide against the evil suggested above and particularly for the protection of the middle-classes against the intrusion of undesirable tenants and malicious and greedy neighbours. Babu Akhil Chandra Dutt in consultation with me brought some suggestions before the committee to provide some safeguards against the passing of agricultural lands to non-agriculturists on the lines of Orissa Tenancy Act, but unfortunately those were thrown off by a narrow majority. I still adhere to my views that I urged before the Select Committee that some provisions should be made in the proposed section 26 as a safeguard that the lands of Bengal may not pass to the non-agriculturists or undesirable tenants. I consider the compensation of 10 per cent. in case of pre-emption or post-emption is too high; it should not be more than 5 per cent. In case of foreclosure the market-value should be determined in the presence of the landlord with a notice to him. The total abandonment of the principle of determination of market-value of the land sold will lead in some cases to abuse and fraud and affect the Government Stamp Revenue and landlords' fees, the only check is pre-emption or post-emption which will be resorted to only in few cases on account of the inability of the landlords.

8. In the proposed section 26 K. K. some safeguards should be provided against intentional and fraudulent misstatement and I raised the point in the committee.

9. I cannot agree with the proposal of wholesale exemption of landlords' fees in case of a bequest or gift to a near relation; when the bequest or gift is in favour of a relation or a heir to the exclusion of other heirs the fixed landlords' fees should be paid.

10. Clause 38 of the Bill should be retained and not omitted. The change proposed is equitable and fair.

11. Clause 42 of the Bill should be repealed. It is connected with the Bill clause 109 which also in my opinion should be repealed. The cases of Mukrari tenures in permanently-settled areas are governed and controlled by contracts. The object of the proposed change is to nullify the effect of the Full Bench Ruling reported in 5 C. W. N., page 438. In case of tenures the contract ought to prevail, there should be no restriction put upon it, both parties enter into the contract with open eyes and for the regular payment of tenure rents, the landlords ought to be allowed to impose any terms on the lessee as may be agreed upon.

12. Clause 56 of the Bill—Proposed section 93 of the Act.—I would delete (ii), and I urged my view before the committee, common manager should not be appointed on the application of tenants; this will foster ill-feelings between landlords and tenants.

13. Regarding clause 108 of the Bill relating to section 178. I opposed the addition of clause (e) to sub-section (1), and I still adhere to my view. The further change made by the Select Committee will lead to more litigations. It would be manifestly unjust to limit the produce rent of the raiyats and under-raiyats to half the produce. The produce rent depends upon various conditions and circumstances, viz, (1) fertility of soil, (2) locality, (3) labour required for cultivation, (4) local rates, (5) price of paddy or the crop produced in the land, (6) costs of labour and (7) competition of labour—when the raiyats' produce rent is half or more how can he sublet at half the produce? There are places, I mean, districts and villages in which often two-thirds of the produce or even more are paid as rent. If such restriction is placed landlords will not let out their lands in produce rents, but will let out in bargah on much favourable terms. This will be to the prejudice of the tenant and to his great disadvantage. For instance, a man may have 4 bighas of lands, and he may require 2 bighas more for cultivation by one plough which he has to employ. So any profit over the actual costs of cultivation for those 2 bighas is welcome to him, if he gets those lands permanently, and will not be in search of such lands for cultivation every year.

14. Bill, clause 21.—The period should be five years instead of ten years.

15. In the Select Committee I proposed to extend the operation of section 31A to the whole Province, otherwise the determination of the prevailing rate or fair and equitable rent in comparison with the rates of neighbouring lands becomes a fiction or illusory. After prolonged enquiry by Revenue Officers the whole labour and attempt prove abortive. I was confronted with a reply that the section is unworkable; if so, a workable section must be provided, because it is not only necessary for enhancement of rent, but also for the assessment of rent where the land is unassessed.

16. In the Select Committee I proposed to provide a proviso to section 65 of the Act to the effect "provided that if he negligently or wilfully fails to pay rents for continuously three years, he shall be liable to be evicted from his tenancy", unfortunately it was rejected. For due realisation of rents such a provision is necessary. All the landlords are not big or solvent. It is specially necessary for small landlords of middle classes who are needy; in cases of small rents sometimes they have to spend three times in litigation of what he actually realises after six years. Legislation should have an eye on all classes, and take into consideration the advantages and disadvantages and difficulties of all, and should try to balance and protect all as far as possible on an equitable basis.

17. I strongly oppose the insertion of proposed clause (5) to section 87 of the Act, it is manifestly unfair and inequitable that an under-raiyat would get the khas lands abandoned by the raiyat on a nominal consideration when he is an under-raiyat with respect to a portion only.

Minute of dissent by Maulvi Rajibuddin Tarafdar, M.L.C.

I regret that I differ from the view of the majority of the members of the Select Committee in some important respects. I therefore submit this note of dissent stating the change which I consider should be made in the Bill. My reasons for the proposed changes are given separately in the supplementary note of dissent.

Bill, clause 20—Proposed section 26D.—In clause (a) for the words "twenty-five per cent." substitute the words "five per cent." In clause (b) for the words "twenty-five per cent." substitute the words "five per cent." and omit the words "or to six times the annual rent of the holding or of the portion or share transferred whichever is greater."

Clauses (c), (d) and (e) should be entirely omitted.

Proposed section 26F.—In sub-clause (1) for the words "twenty-five per cent." substitute the words "five per cent."

In sub-clause (2) after the word "foreclosure" omit the words "determine the market value of the holding and" and for the words "25 per cent." substitute the words "five per cent."

Proposed section 26G—Should be entirely omitted.

Proposed section 26K.—In sub-clauses (1) and (2) omit the figures and words "26G" wherever they occur.

In sub-clause (4) for the words "Neither the acceptance of the landlord's transfer fee provided in sections 26D, 26F or 26KK nor the making of an application to the Court under the provisions of section 26G shall" substitute the words "The acceptance of the landlord's transfer fee provided in sections 26D, 26F or 26KK shall not."

Proposed section 26KK.—In clause (2) after the words "If such payment is not made" add the words "in the manner as laid down in those sections."

Proposed section 26 I—Clause 1.—For the words "does not and cannot in any possible event, by any agreement, express or implied, exceed fifteen years" substitute the words "may be fixed by any agreement, express or implied, between the parties to the mortgage."

Supplementary minute of dissent by Maulvi Rajibuddin Tarafdar, M.L.C.

After 40 years we had an opportunity to amend the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885. But our want and need have not been wholly fulfilled which are practically and principally due to the non-existence of some important provisions in the Bill. This Bill ought to have provision for the tenures of Rangpur and pargana Pathiladaha and for the tenures of other districts of Bengal. I have tried to show certain modifications in some of the clauses of the Bill the reasons of which are given below:—

Reasons—

I. In section 26D, I consider that the landlord's fee should be calculated in one method and it should be calculated on the consideration money only. Rupees 25 is too high a fee for the tenant.

II. In section 26G, I consider that power to the immediate landlord to the purchase, or in other words power to eject the transferee should not be given.

III. In section 26 I of usufructuary mortgage no restriction of limitation should be made.

Minute of dissent by Babu Jogindra Chandra Chakravarti, M.L.C.

I regret that I cannot agree with the majority view of the Select Committee in some important particulars. I submit therefore this note of dissent stating the changes which, I consider, should be made in the several clauses of the Bill. My reasons for the proposed changes are given under each clause in respect of which I propose modifications.

Bill, clause 15—section 18 C.—Add the following words at the end of section 18 C, namely,—" and shall then be transferred to the District Fund ".

Reason.—The Select Committee agreed to this (vide Report on clause 15), but the section as drafted has not been altered.

With regard to the rights of a raiyat holding at a rent, or rate of rent, fixed in perpetuity it is provided in clause (a) of section 18 (vide Bill, clause 12) that he shall be subject to the same provisions with respect to the transfer of, and succession to, his holding as the holder of a permanent tenure. The Act makes no provision for the right of such a raiyat to the trees growing or standing on his land. Right to the trees on the lands of an occupancy raiyat is given by the proposed section 23 A (Bill, clause 1). But in the proposed sub-section (2) to section 18 it is laid down that the provisions of section 23A shall not apply to raiyats holding at fixed rates. The right of a raiyat at fixed rents to the trees has been established by virtue of some decisions of the High Court and as the law is now going to be amended, I think the point should be made clear in the law itself in order to avoid any future misconception. I therefore propose that the following proviso should be added at the end of section 23A (Bill, clause 19), namely :—

" Provided also that a raiyat holding at a rent, or rate of rent, fixed in perpetuity, shall have full rights to all trees on the lands of his tenancy."

This provision seems to be necessary by virtue of the further fact that by the present amendment a raiyat at fixed rents may also be an occupancy raiyat.

In clause (2) of section 18 (Bill clause 12), the words and figures " 23 A " should be omitted and the figure " 21 " shall be substituted for " 23 A ".

Bill, clause 20—proposed section 26 D.—In clause (a) for the words " twenty-five per cent." substitute the words " ten per cent."

In clause (b) omit the words " to twenty-five per cent. of the consideration money as set forth in the instrument of transfer, or " and also the words " whichever is greater".

Clause (c)—Omit clause (c) entirely.

In clause (d) omit the words " to twenty-five per cent. of the value thereof as set forth in the instrument of transfer, or " and also the words " whichever is greater ".

In clause (e)—omit the words " to twenty-five per cent. of the value thereof as determined by the court for the purposes of stamp duty for the grant of probate or letters of administration or " and the words " whichever is greater."

Clauses (b), (d) and (e) should be consolidated into one clause and should read as clause "(b) in the case of a transfer of a holding or a portion or share of a holding, in respect of which a money rent is payable, by way of sale, gift or bequest, to six times the annual rent of the holding or of the portion or share transferred."

Reasons.—I consider that there should be one method of calculating the landlords' fee and it should be calculated always upon the rental and not upon the consideration money or the value of the property. It is admitted that the law should not be changed in such a way as to lead to increase of litigation or to cause unnecessary hardship to the raiyats. From the point of view of the landlords I may submit that if they get six times the rental as their fee in all cases of transfer, whether of entire holdings or portions thereof, without any trouble whatsoever they will not be losers on the whole having regard to the difficulties which they often find in realising the transfer fee under the present conditions and having regard further to the fact that they cannot realise fees in case of part-transfers. It is well known that in many cases sale deeds are executed in such a way as to show that the transfer is only of a part and not of the whole holding. Twenty-five per cent. of the consideration money is such a high fee that I consider it unjustifiable for the legislature to sanction it.

Then in the case of a mere exchange, where the parties mutually change the possession of lands for their own convenience and no cash payment is made on any side nor any pecuniary or other gain is made there is no reason why there should be a provision for the payment of landlord's fee. I therefore recommend that clause (c) should be entirely omitted.

Proposed section 26 F.—In clause (1) omit the words "twenty-five per cent. of the purchase money, or".

Proposed section 26 F.—In clause (2) after the word "foreclosure" omit the words "determine the market value of the holding", and after the words "calculated at" omit the words "twenty-five per cent. of such market value" and substitute for them the words "six times the annual rent of the holding".

Reasons.—Reasons are the same as given above.

Proposed section 26 G should be entirely omitted. Power of the immediate landlord to repurchase, or in other words, power to eject the transferee should not be given.

The proposed power of the immediate landlord to repurchase practically nullifies the advantages sought to be conferred on occupancy raiyats, by making occupancy holdings transferable. I have heard all the arguments in support of the proposal from some of my learned colleagues in the Select Committee but I am not convinced that the principle of making transfers of occupancy holdings dependent upon the sweet will of the landlord can be justified. If the principle embodied in the proposed section 26 B that an occupancy holding shall be capable of being transferred in the same manner and to the same extent as other immovable property, is once recognised it is difficult to understand how such a transfer can be made ultimately to depend upon the sanction of the landlord. At present the transferee has got to purchase the consent of the landlord by paying him a fee which differs in different places, only when he is anxious to get his name registered in the landlord's sherista or when he is threatened with ejectment by the landlord. But under the proposed law the transferee will have to pay down the landlord's fee forthwith at the Registraion office and even then his position is not secure as an weapon is placed in the hands of the landlord which he can use very successfully for extorting such further sum from the purchaser by way of solatium, as he chooses, by threat of exercising the power to repurchase. Experience shows that no question of a tenant being desirable or undesirable arises so long as the purchaser has the power to meet the demands of the landlord. I am, therefore, strongly of opinion that no power to repurchase, which amounts to a power to evict the transferee, should be given to the landlord, and I, therefore, oppose the provisions laid down in the proposed section 26 G.

Proposed section 26 K.—In clauses (1) and (2) omit the figures and words "26 G" whenever they occur. In clause (4) omit the words "nor the making of an application to the court under the provisions of section 26 G".

Reasons.—These are consequential changes.

Proposed section 26 KK.—In clause (2) after the words "If such payment is not made" add the words "in the manner as laid down in those sections".

Reasons.—I think the meaning of the section will be made more clear if the above words are added.

Proposed section 26 KK.—Omit clause (c) of the proposed section 26 KK. entirely.

Reason.—This is consequential.

Bill, clause 30—section 54.—In sub-clause (4) omit "26 G"—a consequential change.

Bill, clause 60—section 99 A.—In clause (1) omit the words "by an instrument in writing" occurring before the words "appoint a common agent".

Reasons.—Instrument in writing may be taken to mean a registered instrument. In the case of co-sharer landlords not residing in the same place, more especially in the case of co-sharers being ladies and minors, it may be often difficult to execute a registered instrument appointing a common agent. Besides, when the appointment is to be notified to the Collector and the name of the common agent is to be printed on the rent receipts, a registered document is hardly necessary for the purposes contemplated. When the Government makes rules regarding common agents it may be laid down in the rules that a common agent may be appointed by a letter of appointment or order signed by all the co-sharers, and a copy of such letter or order should be filed with the Collector. This may serve the purpose well.

In clause (3), sub-clause (a), after the words "for which he has been appointed" and before the words "under sub-section (1)" insert the words "and the powers given to him".

In the same clause omit the word "and" after the words "common agent".

Bill, clause 87—section 146A.—Omit clauses (2) and (3) of section 146 A and insert the following as clause (2) of section 146 A, namely,—

"A decree for arrears of rent obtained in a suit in which all the co-sharer tenants are not made parties will operate only as a money decree."

Reasons.—I accept the principle that all co-sharer tenants shall be held jointly and severally liable for the rent of their holding, but I do not accept the principle of representation as laid down in clauses (2) and (3) of section 146 A. It seems to me to be wrong on principle to permit the interests of a certain individual in a property to be sold away when that individual is not made a party in the suit in which the decree is obtained. It is a matter of common knowledge that in this country both amongst Hindus and Musalmans many persons, including women and children, having common interests in properties, either living in joint or separate mess, have their properties managed for the sake of convenience by some adult male member who acts as the karta or dewania in the matter of all transactions with the landlord. We cannot ignore the age-long habits of the people for whom we are legislating. It may be said that it may be difficult for the landlord to get all the names of the co-sharer tenants, but the consideration of this difficulty must not outweigh the consideration of immense hardships that may be caused to a number of poor, helpless and illiterate tenants by proceeding upon the doctrine of representation. The suggestion that I make is on the lines suggested by the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court [vide page 307 of the collection of opinions on the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Bill, 1925]. The landlord may realise his rents from any of a number of co-sharer tenants, but if he wants to bring the holding to sale he must make all the tenants parties.

Bill, clause 90—section 148.—Omit clause (f 1) entirely.

It introduces a procedure permitting the disposal of rent suits in special cases by the issue of special summons and without the recording of any evidence by the Court. I am opposed to the principle underlying the proposal. Even if the case is tried ex parte, evidence should be recorded by the court, so that the court's attention may be drawn to the amount of rent claimed and the circumstances under which it is claimed.

I am also opposed to the proposal that sufficient security should be furnished by the tenant-defendant before the ex parte decree is set aside. I maintain that an ex parte decree must, in all cases, be set aside if it is proved that the summons was not duly served, and the defendant was therefore absent on the date of hearing.

Bill, clause 105—section 174.—Omit proviso (b) to clause (3), section 174.

Reasons.—The proviso introduces an obstacle in the way of the judgment-debtor's application to set aside the sale. The sale ought to be set aside if the court is satisfied that there was material irregularity in publishing and conducting the sale and the applicant suffered substantial injury in consequence. It is improper that he should be asked to deposit the amount of the decree, under such circumstances, before the sale is set aside.

Clause 4 of section 174 should be omitted. Rule 91, order 21 of the Civil Procedure Code, gives a remedy to the purchaser in case he finds that the judgment-debtor had no saleable interest in the property sold. The purchaser at a rent-sale enjoyed this right all along. There is no reason why this right should be taken away.

Proviso to clause (5) should be omitted.

Reasons.—I oppose the principle that justice should be denied to the applicant who complains of irregularity in the procedure and consequent injury, merely because he fails to deposit the amount of the decree.

Bill, clause 106—section 174A.—In clause (2) of section 174 A, omit the words "and where in the case of an application under sub-section (1) of section 174 the deposit required by that sub-section is made within thirty days from the date of sale".

Reasons.—This is consequential, if clause (b) of the proviso to clause (3) of section 174 be omitted.

Bill clause 110—section 182.—Omit the words "or an under-raiyat" in the first line, and the words "or an under-raiyat, as the case may be" in the last line.

Omit also the proviso and the illustration. For the words "or an under-raiyat as the case may be" substitute the words "although his interest in the homestead may be that of an under-raiyat".

Reasons.—Section 182 as drafted by the Select Committee takes away another most valued right enjoyed by the raiyats in Bengal. It is well-settled law that when a raiyat holds his homestead not as a part of his raiyati holding but under another raiyat, he has the status of a raiyat in his homestead, although his position in respect to it is that of an under-raiyat. Consequently he cannot be evicted from such a homestead. There can be no justification for changing the law in such a way that such a person may be evicted from his homestead. A raiyat's homestead must be made secure from eviction as far as possible, and in a case where the existing law makes the raiyat secure against eviction, the legislature has no justification to place him at the mercy of his immediate landlord. The suggestions which I make will have the effect of making the existing law more clear and definite.

Minute of dissent by Maulvi Bashar Mahammad, M.L.C.

I beg to submit this note of dissent. Proposed section 26 G should be deleted. It amounts to taking away the privilege we intend to confer on the tenant by making his holding transferable. We should make his holding transferable subject only to the payment of the landlord's fees.

The deposit of the decretal amount, which has been made a condition precedent in all proceedings for setting aside sales of holdings in clause 105 (5), should be deleted.

Minute of dissent by Maulvi Asimuddin Ahamad, M.L.C.

1. That bargadars and under-raiyats should be given occupancy rights in their holdings. But provisions to this effect have not been made in this Bill.

2. That landlords should not be entitled to have landlord's fee more than 5 per cent. for entire holding but no fee for part transfer and no right of pre-emption should be given to the landlords.

3. That tenant should be given absolute right to cut all sorts of trees in their holdings.

Minute of dissent by Babu Nirmal Chandra Chunder, M.L.C.

I have signed the report of the Select Committee subject to this minute of dissent which, however, cannot possibly exhaustively express the points on which I differ from the majority of the committee. Within the short time at my disposal I can only express my irreconcilable difference from the report on one point, i.e., on the rights and status of the under-raiyats. I think some protection should be given to the under raiyats against indiscriminate eviction. I enclose the amendments which I suggest. They indicate what in my opinion will give them the irreducible minimum of protection. I need not set out my reasons in full as I expect to have an opportunity of placing them before the Council when clauses 26, 27 and 28 are taken into consideration. All that I need say now is that there is no strong public opposition to some kind of protection being given to the under-raiyats. The opposition is confined to grant of occupancy rights to them. As occupancy rights of raiyats are being made freely transferable it is quite possible that powerful foreign companies will directly or indirectly acquire all the raiyati interest in valuable jute lands and the children of the soil will then be reduced to the position of mere under-raiyats.

Before I conclude I wish it to be distinctly understood that I have absolutely no faith in tinkering at the Tenancy Law and I am decidedly of opinion that if there is a genuine desire to ameliorate the condition of the masses then comprehensive legislation should be taken in hand after a searching enquiry has been made into the conditions of village life in Bengal by a representative committee. As one of the evil effects of piece-meal legislation I may instance the proposed grant to the landlord of 25 per cent. of the purchase money in each case of transfer of the whole or a part of an occupancy holding. Without taking all the facts affecting village life into consideration at one and the same time we cannot have materials before us to decide whether such a high rate is justified and whether (whatever the selami) a percentage on such sale could be secured to a local body and earmarked for the improvement of village drainage or village water-supply or both. Even as regards the rights which we are creating and the rights which we are confirming we cannot be sure how far these rights are real as we do not know what facilities are open to poor peasants to maintain, enforce or defend these rights and what further facilities can be made available to them.

Annexure to the above minute of dissent.

For the protection of the under-raiyats I suggest the following amendments :—

Part I.

For section 48 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"48. When an under-raiyat is admitted to the occupation of land, he shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, become liable to pay such rent as may be agreed on between himself and his landlord at the time of his admission.

48 A. The rent of an under-raiyat shall not be enhanced except by a registered agreement or by a Court under section 49 A.

48 B. Notwithstanding anything in sections 48 and 48 A the landlord of an under-raiyat holding at a money rent shall not be entitled to recover rent at a rate exceeding the average rate which he pays for the land of that holding by more than 50 per cent.; provided that nothing in this section shall prevent a landlord from recovering rent at the rate at which it has been actually paid for a continuous period of not less than three years immediately preceding the period for which the rent is claimed."

Part II.

For section 49 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"49. An under-raiyat shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, be liable to ejectment on one or more of the following grounds, and not otherwise, namely :—

(a) on the ground that he has failed to pay an arrear of rent;

(b) on the ground that he has used the land in a manner which renders it unfit for the purpose of the tenancy, or that he has broken a condition consistent with this Act and on the breach of which he is, under the terms of the contract between himself and his landlord, ejected;

(c) on the ground that the term of his lease has expired, when he holds the land under a written lease; and

(d) on the ground that the tenancy has been terminated by his landlord by six months' notice expiring at the end of the agricultural year, when he holds the land otherwise than under a written lease:

Provided that in the case of (c) and (d) no decree for ejectment shall be passed unless the landlord satisfied the Court that he requires the land for his homestead or for cultivation by himself, or by members of his family, or with the aid of partners, if the under-raiyat agrees to pay a fair and equitable rent for his holding in accordance with the provisions of section 49A, and thereupon the provisions of that section shall apply:

Provided also that when an under-raiyat has been in continuous possession of the lands comprised in his holding or a portion thereof, for a period of twenty years, whether partly or wholly after the commencement of the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, 1926, he shall not be liable to ejectment on the grounds mentioned in (c) and (d).

49A (1) The landlord of a holding held by an under-raiyat whether at a money rent or produce rent may, subject to the provisions of this Act, institute a suit to enhance the rent of the under-raiyat or in lieu thereof, to eject the under-raiyat if he refuses to pay the rent determined by the Court.

(2) The Court shall determine what rent is fair and equitable for the holdings; provided that the rate of rent so determined shall not in the case of a money rent exceed the average rate of rent which he himself pays for the land of that holding by more than fifty per cent. and in the case of a produce rent the rent so determined shall not exceed half the average estimated yield of the holding.

(3) The Court shall thereupon enquire from the under-raiyat if he agrees to pay the rent so determined. If the under-raiyat agrees, he shall be entitled to remain in occupation of his holding at that rent for a term of 15 years from the date of the agreement.

(4) If the under-raiyat does not agree to pay the rent so determined, the Court shall pass a decree for ejectment.

(5) A decree for ejectment passed under this section shall take effect from the end of the agricultural year in which it is passed.

49 B. When a landlord has ejected an under-raiyat the under-raiyat shall be entitled to apply to the Court to be put in possession of the holding from which he was ejected, if within two years of the ejectment the landlord sublets the holding or any portion thereof; and thereupon the Court may, if satisfied after summary enquiry that the landlord did not require the land for his homestead, or for cultivation, by himself, or by members of his family or with the aid of partners, order a recovery of possession on such terms, if any, with respect to compensation to the persons injured as to the Court may seem just."

Minute of dissent by Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.

The popular and superficial impression in the country no doubt is that occupancy holdings should be made freely transferable subject only to the payment of a fixed nazar to the landlord. A close examination, however, of the real position will show that there should be some important restrictions in the best interests of the tenants. I feel very keenly on the question, and I think the following restrictions are indispensably necessary to avert a total ruin of the agricultural population of Bengal:—

(1) The transferee must be a bonâ fide cultivator and not a capitalist or a company investing money and seeking to earn dividend by carrying on cultivation on an extensive scale through hired and imported labour.

(2) The transferee must be a bonâ fide resident of the locality and not a capitalist or company from abroad.

(3) There must be a fixed maximum area—say 100 or 500 bighas, beyond which any one individual or family should not be allowed to purchase a right of occupancy.

All these provisions are essential safeguards against an unequal competition between poor and bonâ fide peasant on one side and big capitalists and speculators on the other. The land law of Bengal is full of provisions for protection of peasants and the principle should be applied with regard to this question of paramount importance.

This is the main point in which I differ from the recommendations of the Select Committee. There are other small and minor matters which I do not feel justified to mention here, but with regard to which I reserve my right to move in the Council.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP OF BENGAL, 1926.

NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1923-24, the area under jute in Bengal, to which this Forecast relates, represents some 65·3 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.

The Preliminary Forecast deals only with estimates of area sown and the condition of the crop at the time of publication of the Forecast. The estimates of area are based on information received through the Collectors from Panchayets and Agricultural Officers.

Revision of Area.—In 1925 the forecasted area was 2,553,000 acres. This has since been revised, on the basis of actual deliveries, to 2,715,500 acres.

Area sown in 1926.—The Bengal District returns for the present season show a total area of 3,156,900 acres, an increase of about 441,400, or about 16 per cent., as compared with the revised final figures for 1925.

Character of the Season.—For the first time for several years the rainfall over the whole tract was generally favourable in the early part of the season. This, combined with the very high prices realised last season, accounts for the large increase in area. Latterly, drought in Northern Bengal has been succeeded by heavy rain. In the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions the weather was hot, and drier than usual, in June, but the monsoon has now established itself. In Eastern Bengal the weather, as a whole, has been favourable throughout.

Present state of the Crop.—Some damage has been done in Pabna and Bogra by drought and by caterpillars. Also some early flowering has taken place in Mymensingh and elsewhere. The present condition of the crop may, however, be described as good on the whole.

Stocks.—Information indicates that stocks of old jute are small.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

* Revised.

District.	Estimated area under jute—		Whether much, little or no jute remains in the district from the crop of 1925.	Date by which the sowing of the crop generally commenced this year, and whether the date was early, normal or late.	Remarks by District Officers.
	Last year.*	This year.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Acres.	Acres.
Dacca ..	313,700	357,600	Very little ..	March. Normal	The increase in area is due to high price last year. The weather has been favourable, except in the high-land tracts for want of sufficient rain in May and June. Some damage by hailstorm is reported. The present condition is, however, good.
Mymensingh ..	592,500	688,000	Little ..	End of February and March Normal.	The increase in area is due to high price obtained last year and to timely rainfall this year. The weather was favourable at sowing time, but the drought in May has affected the growth of the crop to some extent. Subsequent rain has improved the condition. Slight damage by hailstorm is reported. The present condition is satisfactory.
Faridpur ..	252,800	293,000	Practically none	Beginning of March. A little early.	The increase in area is due to high price obtained last year. The weather was favourable at sowing time, but continuous rainfall in April and May interfered with the weeding operation and drought in June was prejudicial to the growth. Considerable damage has been caused by insects, drought, early flowering and inadequate weeding owing to high wages and excessive rain. The present condition is fair.
Bakarganj ..	41,700	58,600	None ..	End of February and beginning of March. Early.	The increase in area is due to high price obtained last year. The weather was not very favourable in March and April owing to excessive rain. In May and June the rainfall was rather below the normal and consequently the condition of the late-sown crop is better than the early sowings, which have been retarded. The damage in the low-lying areas owing to stagnation of water and to excessive rain in March and April may be estimated at one anna. The present condition of the crop on the whole may be called fair.
Chittagong ..	200	200	The crop is grown for domestic use and for rope-making.	Middle of May	The weather has been seasonable. The present condition of the crop is good.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BIHAR AND ORISSA.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP OF BIHAR AND ORISSA, 1926.

NOTE.—On an average of the five years ending 1923-24, the area under jute to which the Bihar and Orissa forecast relates, represents about 8·2 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.

The present forecast deals only with the estimated area sown. It gives also a general survey of prospects, but makes no reference to the probable outturn either in percentage figures or in bales.

2. Acreage.—The estimated area sown during the current and four preceding years in round numbers is given below :—

Year.		Acreage.
1922	...	160,000
1923	...	223,200
1924	...	212,200
1925	...	263,200
1926	...	280,000

3. Weather conditions.—In March light rain fell in the jute districts; the fall was above the normal everywhere, except Muzaffarpur, where it was below the normal. In April the fall was below the normal everywhere, except Bhagalpur and the Santal Parganas, and in May rainfall was below the normal everywhere. In June moderate rain fell in all jute districts, except Balasore, where it was light. On the whole, rainfall was not favourable and more rain will do much good.

4. District returns.—The total area under jute is estimated by District Officers in round figure at 257,500 acres as against 248,300 acres of last year. There have been increases in area in all the districts, except Champaran and Balasore, owing to high prices obtained last year; but there is reason to believe that the area sown last year was at least 6 per cent. higher than the estimate and that the increase has again been underestimated by District Officers, and I have amended the Provincial totals accordingly as shown above. Sowing is reported to be still going on in Balasore.

5. Condition and prospects.—The condition of the crop is fair.

6. General.—The quantity of jute which remains in the jute districts from the crops of 1925 is reported to be small.

The statement below compares the estimated area under jute in this province this year with the preliminary and final figures of last year :—

Tirhut	Champaran ..	2,259,840	1,430,200	1,700	1,300	1,300	Little ..	1st week of April ..	The weather and rainfall have not been very favourable in Sadar but favourable in the Bettiah subdivision. The condition of the crop is fair. The date of sowing was normal and it has been completed. The general condition of the crop is less favourable in the Sadar subdivision. The crop is expected to be better than last year in the Bettiah subdivision.
	Muzaffarpur ..	1,942,324	1,627,000	1,800	1,100	2,200	Nil ..	March. (Normal)	The increase in area is due to the fact that owing to rise in price, jute has been sown in large areas in Sahebganj and Shakra police stations.
Bhagalpur	Bhagalpur	2,661,020	1,684,100	1,600	2,064	3,341	Nothing ..	April. (Normal) ..	Owing to the rise in price of jute, people have cultivated jute in larger areas than in previous year, hence the increase in area this year.
	Purnea	3,196,153	1,694,400	169,100	224,500	230,000	Little ..	Beginning of April. (Normal.)	The increase in area is due to the abnormally high price that jute fetched last year. The condition of crop is fair at Kishanganj and Araria. Its growth has been retarded at Sadar for want of rain.
	Santal Parganas ..	3,490,400	1,717,900	1,000	1,470	1,870	Very little ..	Third week of May. (Normal.)	The weather and rainfall have so far been favourable for the growth of the crop. The condition of the crop so far is good, but rain is badly needed as the recent drought has just begun affecting the crop. There has been an increase in the area sown on account of good profit last year.
Orissa	Cuttack	2,340,307	1,223,500	18,900	15,284	16,200	Nil ..	1st week of May. (Normal.)	Rain is badly needed for the growth of the jute plants.

	Total ..	17,222,665	10,309,300	196,400	248,318	257,511

NOTE.—The figures at (a) viz. 248,318 and (b) viz. 257,511 are according to District Officers' estimates. Last year's area is estimated to be 263,200 by this Department. This year's area is estimated to be 230,000 acres by this Department.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, ASSAM.

PRELIMINARY FORECAST OF THE JUTE CROP OF ASSAM, 1926.

NOTE.—On the average of the five years ending 1923-24, the area under jute in Assam represents 5·1 per cent. of the total area under jute in British India.

1. Character of the season.—The weather has been on the whole favourable for the cultivation and growth of the crop. Slight damage has however been done by insects in the Nowgong district. The present condition of the crop appears to be normal.

2. Area sown.—The total area under jute as estimated by the Deputy Commissioners is 168,100 acres, which is 31,600 acres more than the final figure of last year. The increase occurred in all districts, except Cachar and Sibsagar, and is due to high price of jute last year and favourable weather condition at sowing time.

3. Stock.—According to the reports of the Deputy Commissioners, little jute remains from last year in Goalpara, Kamrup and Darrang, but the Deputy Commissioner, Nowgong, reports a rather considerable stock in hand.

	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Cachar ..	300	300	300	....	..	Nil ..	Middle of April. Normal.	The weather was not favourable at sowing time, but favourable now. The condition of the crop is good and the outturn is likely to be better than last year.
Sylhet ..	17,900	13,200	17,500	4,300	..	Nil ..	April. Normal	The increase in area is due to the favourable market of last year and favourable weather at sowing time. The weather continues to be favourable till now. The prospects of the crop are good and much better than last year.
Goalpara ..	50,000	41,900	54,000	12,100	..	Little ..	1st week of April. Normal.	The increase in area is due to the very high price of jute last year and also to favourable weather at sowing time. The condition of the crop appears to be good and a normal outturn is expected.
Kamrup ..	12,700	10,100	11,500	1,400	..	Little ..	15th April. Normal.	The character of weather till now has been favourable. The price of jute last year was high, and there was also extension of cultivation by immigrants this year. The present condition of the crop is good and better outturn than last year is expected.
Darrang ..	9,300	13,900	16,300	2,400	..	Little ..	First week of March. Early.	The favourable weather till now, the high price of jute and the extension of cultivation by the Mymensingh immigrants account for the increase in area. The outturn is expected to be better than last year.
Nowgong ..	14,700	52,700	63,600	10,900	..	About 1/8ths of the last year's crop remains.	1st March. Early.	The weather at sowing time was favourable, but in May and June rainfall was short affecting growth of the crop to some extent. There was rise in price of jute last year. Slight damage has been done by insects. The condition of the crop is however good and the outturn is likely to be better than last year.
Sibsagar ..	300	300	300	..	..	Nil ..	Middle of April. Normal.	The weather has been unfavourable owing to insufficient rainfall and the outturn cannot be expected to be better than last year.
Lakhimpur ..	200	300	600	300	..	Nil ..	1st April. Normal.	There was extension of cultivation by the Mymensingh settlers in the North Lakhimpur subdivision. The condition of weather has been fair, and this combined with the improved method of cultivation by the Mymensingh settlers, has made the prospects of the crop better than last year.
Jaro Hills ..	4,600	3,800	4,000	200	..	Nil ..	Last part of March. Normal.	The increase in area is due to high price of jute and favourable weather. The present condition of the crop is fair, and the outturn expected to be better than last year.
